Powell, Fired FHA Head, Out On Bond

Ordered Jailed For Contempt

WASHINGTON (AP)—Clyde L. Powell, a former government housing chief, was ordered jailed Friday on a charge of criminal contempt of court, but a few hours later was freed on $5,000 bond.

A three-member panel of the U. S. Court of Appeals ruled that Powell may remain at liberty pending disposition of his appeal from a one-year sentence for refusing to answer a grand jury's questions about housing scandals.

U. S. District Judge F. Dickinson Letts, who sentenced Powell, had refused a request that he be freed on bond pending the appeal.

Appellate Judges Harold M. Stephens, E. Barrett Prettyman and George T. Washington ruled, however, that substantial legal questions were involved in Powell's appeal. This is a prerequisite to bond after conviction.

The amount was furnished by a professional bondsman, Powell, 58, was ousted last spring from his post as assistant commissioner of the Federal Housing Administration.

Judge Letts found Powell had acted "willfully, deliberately and contumaciously" in his refusal to answer questions before the grand jury.

In such a situation, the law fixes no limits as to imprisonment or a fine, but leaves the matter entirely to the judge.

The questions Powell refused to answer dealt with whether he had removed from his office official diaries and desk calendars covering the years 1946 to 1954.

Judge Letts held that Powell had "obstructed the administration of justice" and had blocked "the search for truth" by the grand jury.

Powell, in refusing to answer the questions which he had been directed by the court to answer on two occasions, had cited the constitutional protection in the

Murphy, Veteran Newsman Dies

CHICAGO (AP)—John F. Murphy, 61, veteran Chicago and Indiana newspaperman, died today of a heart attack.

Murphy, for the last five years on the sports staff of the Chicago American, began his newspaper career at Crawfordsville, Ind. After graduating from Wabash College he worked for newspapers in Indianapolis. He came to Chicago more than 20 years ago and was employed on several of the city's newspapers.

His widow, Irene Smith Murphy, survives. Funeral services are to be arranged in Greencastle, Ind.

Juror's Record Threatens To Wreck Sheppard Trial

CLEVELAND (AP)—A report that one of the 12 jurors did not disclose a criminal record threatened to wreck the first degree murder trial of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard.

The possibility of a mistrial was raised unofficially.

A mistrial would force the state to retry the sensational case and pick a whole new jury.

It might mean weeks of delay.

Sheppard, a 30-year-old osteopath, is on trial for his life. He is accused of beating his pregnant wife, Marilyn, 31, to death last July 4. The state claims the slaying followed an illicit love affair with Susan Hayes, 24-year-old former technician in the osteopathic hospital where he practiced.

"I don't know—it's a very deep question," said Common Pleas Judge Edward Blythin in his chambers when reporters besieged him with questions about the juror.

Defense Atty. William J. Corrigan declined to tell reporters whether he would try to upset the whole trial.

The state, for its part, wasn't saying a word.

The latest crisis in the red hot trial arose with dramatic suddenness in mid-morning. It led Judge Blythin to adjourn court after the noon recess, until Monday. Nothing of the matter was placed on the record of the court itself.

Adenauer Advocates Nonaggression Pact

WASHINGTON (AP)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer advocated Friday that free world allies eventually negotiate a giant non-aggression pact with Russia and her satellites.

He emphasized that before launching such a move to ease East-West tension the anti-Communist countries "must first secure their freedom" by further bolstering their military and economic might.

The 78-year-old German leader threw out this idea in a major foreign policy speech climaxing a two-day round of talks with President Eisenhower, Secretary of State Dulles and other top American officials.

Blue Ballet Supporters Ask Bell Ringing Hint

CHICAGO (AP)—Churches in Chicago have been asked to ring their bells Tuesday—election day—to remind citizens to vote "yes" on the Blue Ballot reapportionment amendment.

The Church Federation of Greater Chicago has requested member churches to ring their bells every hour on the hour Tuesday.

The proposed amendment to the Illinois constitution has drawn the support of many political and civic leaders and clergymen.

The amendment would direct the state Legislature to redistrict the state so that Cook County would have a majority of the seats in the House and downstate would have most of the seats in the Senate.

There has been no reshuffling of these districts since 1901.

F.H.A. Launching New Housing Plan For Service Men

WASHINGTON (AP)—Within a week the Federal Housing Administration will launch the government's liberal new program for home purchases by servicemen on active duty. FHA Commissioner Norman P. Mason announced Friday.

Under a new Housing Act passed this year by Congress, men in the Army, Navy, Air Force and Coast Guard will be able to buy new or used housing costing up to $18,000 for as little as 5 per cent down.

The program, Mason said, will give the man in uniform an opportunity to become a homeowner "without disqualifying him for any of the benefits he might seek later as a veteran."

Regulations now are being printed to put the plan in operation. A serviceman desiring to take advantage of the new FHA-insured mortgage financing will obtain a loan from the military service.

To be eligible, he must have been on active duty for at least two years and must, in the judgment of the military, require housing.

Under Judge Salter's direction, the bailiffs then tapped De Simone's mouth and handcuffed him to a chair.

Closing arguments began as De Simone pulled at his manacles, shook his head and muttered beneath the gag.

De Simone and three others are charged with murder in the robbery slaying of John Rodaly, 73, year-old florist Sept. 26, 1953.

PREDICT SEPT. COOL ELECTION WEATHER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The weather man Friday forecast predominantly fair and cool over most of the country on Election Day, next Tuesday.

For New England parts of New York State, the outlook is for some rain, possibly mixed with sleet in northern New England.

It should be fair and warm on the West Coast, some showers in Florida, and scattered rain and snow flurries in the upper Lakes and Mississippi Valley regions.

Otherwise the forecaster expects fair and snappy weather — good for a brisk walk to the polling booths.

BIGGER JACK-O-LANTERNS SPRINGFIELD, ILL.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Halloweeners and pie makers were promised bigger and better pumpkins today by a state Natural History Survey scientist.

Dr. John M. Wright, associate entomologist for the survey, said he has found cieldrin, a new insecticide, an effective killer of squash bugs, the scourge of pumpkin vines. When cieldrin was used, luxuriant vines and a bumper crop of pumpkins resulted.

Snow Flurries, Cold Air Sweep Into Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The coldest weather of the season, accompanied by snow flurries, blew into the north central states Friday.

The first snow flurries of the season swirled through wind-swept Chicago as the mercury skidded to a predicted overnight low of 28 degrees.

Early afternoon readings held in the 30s from the Dakotas through the Upper Mississippi Valley and into the western Great Lakes region.

An inch of snow blanketed the ground at Mt. Washington, N.H., and heavy rains drenched the Atlantic Coast from northern New Jersey through southern New England.

Mostly fair weather ruled in other sections of the country, except for local fog in the extreme Northwest.

Warm weather, with readings in the 80s, was restricted to southern Florida, extreme southern Texas and the desert Southwest. Temperatures were in the 50s and 60s in the Southeast and in the 40s and 50s in the southern plains and northern and central Rockies. The Far West reported readings around 50 in Washington to the 60s in coastal California.

Brutal Slaying Of Girl, 6, Climaxes Halloween Fun

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Childish games of playing Halloween trick-or-treat with neighbors ended Friday in the brutal suffocation slaying of pretty 6-year-old Karen Mauk.

Police Chief George Fesko of nearby Conemaugh — Karen's hometown — issued orders for questioning of all known sex degenerates in the area. He termed the death the "brutal work of a sex maniac."

The child's nude and bruised body was found shortly after midnight in the ghostly surroundings of a graveyard two miles from her home. A bag of candy and an apple lay near her.

An autopsy report issued by Cambria County Coroner Joseph Govekar said Karen "was strangled with clothes or some bulky object." He said the autopsy showed no evidence of rape.

The blonde child, a first grader in Conemaugh public school, left her home about 7 p.m. Thursday night. She told her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Mauk, she wanted to join playmates for Halloween activities.

Mauk said she at first objected but later gave in to Karen's pleas. The mother said her young child wore a white tulle dress and a paper hat. The hat may be a clue in the brutal slaying.

The crumpled hat was found in an alley garage near the child's home shortly after Mrs. Mauk reported her daughter missing at 9 p.m. The tulle dress hasn't been found.

Karen's clothes—torn and dirty—were found near the nude body. Fesko said blood ran from her mouth.

Costello, Quizzed In Greenlease Kidnaping, Is Shot

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Joseph Costello, the tax firm operator who was questioned repeatedly in the search for the missing Greenlease ransom money, was shot and seriously wounded Friday at his home. He told police it was an accident.

The 48-year-old Costello, an ex-convict, said a 38-caliber revolver fired accidentally while he was cleaning the weapon about 3:30 a.m.

The bullet, a flat-headed type used for target practice, lodged in the left side of the chest just above the heart and was removed in an emergency operation at City Hospital.

"I wish it were three inches lower," Costello told a newspaper just before the operation. "I don't care what happens to me anymore."

Costello was booked by police for investigation and "suspected of affray" and posted $1,000 bond. Police said they planned to question him Saturday.

Blood transfusions were given Costello after the operation and arrangements were made to transfer him to Jewish Hospital.

Police said Costello, apparently referring to the investigations of the still-missing $300,000 in ransom money, told them: "I don't care what happens. I've been under a great strain the last year. The FBI has been worrying me and I don't know anything about that."

As a physician was preparing Costello for the anesthetic, he asked: "This won't make me talk, will it, Doc?"

Gag And Handcuffs Unruly Murder Trial Defendant

CHICAGO (AP)—A murder trial defendant was gagged and handcuffed to his chair to maintain order in Criminal Court Friday.

Earlier in the trial Judge Leslie E. Salter had warned that such action would be taken unless defendant Gordon De Simone, 21, stopped his numerous outbursts in the courtroom.

As the trial neared an end Friday, De Simone interrupted testimony with a screaming outburst from his chair at the defense counsel's table.

He was taken from the courtroom until he quieted down. Then the judge ordered him brought back.

As De Simone entered the room he yelled:

"I want to make a motion . . ."

He was cut short as bailiffs grabbed him and clamped their hands over his mouth.

Under Judge Salter's direction, the bailiffs then tapped De Simone's mouth and handcuffed him to a chair.

Closing arguments began as De Simone pulled at his manacles, shook his head and muttered beneath the gag.

De Simone and three others are charged with murder in the robbery slaying of John Rodaly, 73, year-old florist Sept. 26, 1953.

Only 2 AEC Members Approved Dixon-Yates Contract: Kefauver

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) brought out at a public hearing Friday that only two members of the five-man Atomic Energy Commission have approved the controversial Dixon-Yates power contract.

The Tennessee senator is fighting the administration's plan to channel private power into an area where the Tennessee Valley Authority operates.

At a session of the Senate Antimonopoly subcommittee Friday, Kefauver had Sidney Davis, the groups chief counsel, read a letter from AEC General Manager K. D. Nichols showing to what extent the membership of the commission had endorsed the contract.

The letter stated that Chairman Lewis E. Strauss and Commissioner Joseph Campbell voted to approve the contract at a meeting Oct. 6.

It said Thomas E. Murray, who previously criticized the proposal, abstained from voting and that a new member, Dr. Willard Libby, "withdrew from the meeting because he felt that he was not sufficiently acquainted with the subject to be able to exercise judgment upon it" (a fifth member of the commission, Dr. John von Neumann, was not appointed until after the Oct. 6 meeting).

Kefauver commented that it was "interesting and strange" that the contract in its present form has not been approved by a majority of the whole AEC.

He added that it apparently was necessary to have one member leave the room "to get a bare majority of those present."

Earlier in the hearing, Gordon R. Clapp, who headed TVA during the Truman administration, criticized the contract as a "bad financial arrangement" and "unsound from an engineering standpoint."

Clapp also said he regards the contract as an effort to squeeze TVA into submission to the private utilities so they can in the future dictate their own terms.

The proposal is to have a group of private utility companies build a 107-million-dollar power plant at West Memphis, Ark. Its electricity would be fed into TVA lines to replace power diverted to AEC installations farther north.

Another development Friday was a disclosure that when the Federal Power Commission stamped the contract as "fair and reasonable" last month it did not concern itself with the strictly legal aspects of the deal.

Kefauver predicted that a lot of changes would have to be made in the contract before it is approved by the TVA.

President Eisenhower has authorized the Dixon-Yates negotiations and defended them as sound public policy.

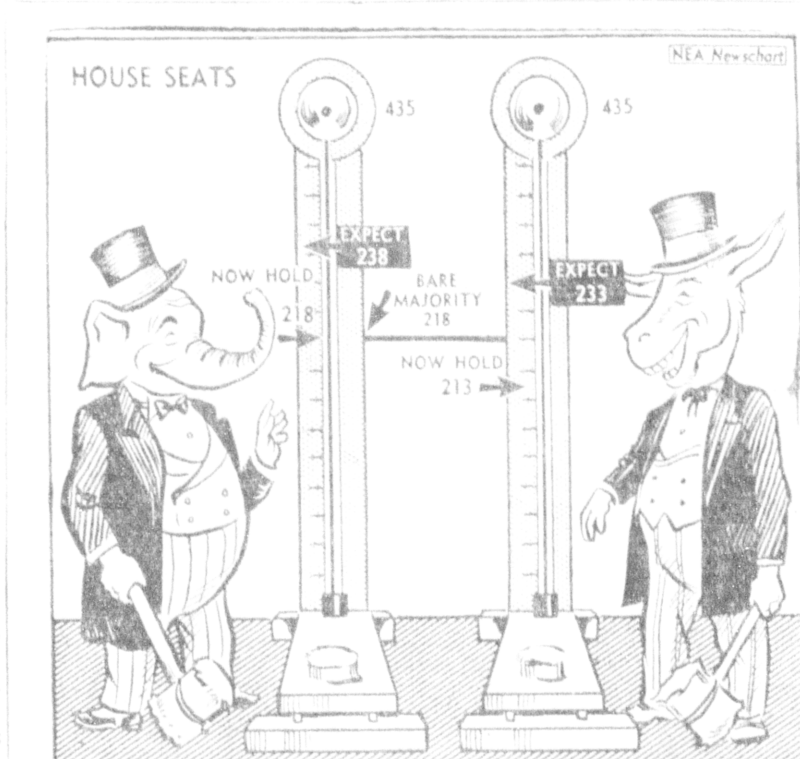

MAKE RESCUE CAMP NEAR C-17 WRECKAGE

LONDON (AP)—Six U.S. Air Force paratroopers jumped Friday to establish a rescue camp at Valderi, Italy about 12 miles north of wreckage believed to be that of a missing C-47, U.S. 3rd Air Force headquarters said Friday.

A searching helicopter reported sighting the wreckage on the side of a mountain pass through the French Alps north of Nice. The plane disappeared Sunday on a Rome to England flight.

Air Force headquarters said the terrain was too rough to make a direct jump at the scene. The team will go on foot to the site.

Lasting Peace, Prosperity With GOP: Eisenhower

MUSCLE FLEXING EXERCISE—Democratic donkey and Republican elephant line up at the strength barometer to see how many House of Representative seats each will get in the coming November election. The optimistic elephant now holds 218 of the 435 House seats, claims it has a good chance of picking up 20 more for a total of 238 seats. The donkey now holds 213 seats, also expects to pick up 20 seats, giving it a total of 233. The present number of House seats doesn't add up to 435 on the chart because there is one independent and three vacancies.

Confident His Party Will Control Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower flew into four states on a major political mission Friday—everywhere plugging for an election of a Republican Congress, everywhere saying a GOP led government means lasting peace and prosperity.

And Friday night, near the end of 1,400 miles of travel, he happily voiced confidence his party can win continued control of the legislative branch in Tuesday's election.

The President reported he found enthusiasm for the GOP cause—and not the apathy he expected—in Ohio, Michigan, Kentucky and Delaware, all important political battlefields this year.

"If everybody votes, we're in," Eisenhower told a cheering airport audience at Wilmington, Del., where he made his final address of the trip.

He started up one political storm by taking a poke at Democrats in a speech at the Cleveland, Ohio airport on the Communism-in-government issue.

That came when he said that when the Republicans won in 1952, "We were tired of hearing the word 'Communist' everywhere it was mentioned being called a red herring."

Harry Truman, when he was president, once told a questioning reporter that the Republicans were using congressional investigations of alleged subversive activities as a red herring to divert attention from themselves.

Democratic Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell declared at Washington that "Today Eisenhower himself joined in the Red smear in his airport speeches. This is shameful."

The chief executive's plane landed at Washington's National Airport at 6:14 p.m., CST, ending a 12-hour tour.

Before speaking in Wilmington the President addressed campaign crowds in Cleveland, Detroit and Louisville, Ky.

At each stop he talked of unemployment—called it still a major problem, but said his administration is solving it without providing jobs through spending "the blood of our sons on the battlefield."

That was his major theme, for example, in heavily industrial Detroit, where joblessness is a major campaign issue. Democrats there have been blaming the administration for unemployment in the automobile and related industries.

Eisenhower declared that when the Democrats were in power there was never peace or prosperity at the same time. He drew his biggest crowd in Detroit, estimated by police at 50,000.

At every stop the President plugged hard for election of Republican candidates for Congress and state offices. All four states he visited have key U.S. Senate races on Tuesday—races which could determine control of Congress.

He also told the Wilmington crowd: "We are on the march—the crusade is still going."

Wilson Returns To Campaign With Another Dog Story

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson returned Friday night to political campaigning, bringing with him another dog story.

The defense chief, who a few weeks ago used kennel and bird dogs as an example of how unemployed did or did not get out and hunt jobs, started out an address prepared for a dinner of the Citizens for Eisenhower organization here by saying:

"Recently I have been a little confused at dinners like this as to the reason why people invite me to talk. Is it because I am secretary of defense, or is it because I am an admirer of dogs?"

"I might tell you that only this week I was elected honorary president of the Bridgewater Bridge Club and just yesterday I was informed that a newly born letter carrier bears the name, 'The Honorable Charles E. Wilson.'"

Discussing the defense program under the Eisenhower administration, Wilson said the problem was to provide adequate forces "and at the same time not resort to either higher taxes or more and more inflation." He said that as far as the Defense Department is concerned, changes on the Treasury not contributing to increased military strength are being stopped.

Joe Will Go To School, Dog Defended With Gun Goes Too

WEST MONROE, La. (AP)—Temporary mechanic Judge Heard had sent the sixth year-old Joe Cooper, who deined his mongrel dog with a loaded shotgun, Friday night was paroled to the custody of a married school principal and a truant officer after a former governor agreed to spark a nationwide fund raising drive to give him a private school and college education.

Former Gov. James A. Noe, who operates a radio station in New Orleans and a television and radio station in adjoining Monroe, said he would advance money to send the sixth grader to the Webb School for Boys in Bell Buckle, Tenn., next Wednesday.

Joe, tears streaming down his face as he embraced his 65-year-old mother, said he was happy about the whole thing, especially because his dog, Tippee, would go with him to the school.

"I knew they would send him to college," said Mrs. I. L. Cooper, Joe's widowed mother, who reared eight other children. "Everyone has been so nice and it all turned out best for the boy."

McCarthy Believes Senate Will Vote To Censure Him

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said Friday he is convinced the Senate will vote to censure him next month and indicated he will take his defense to American people.

"I am not going to defend myself before the Senate," McCarthy said.

McCarthy told a reporter he does not expect that more than a "very few" senators will go into the special session convening Nov. 8 "with an open mind."

While he said he would make no defense in the Senate, he said he would speak out at length on the Senate floor on each of the censure charges against him "to make a record so the American people will know what the Senate is doing."

He added, however:

"I don't have any thought at all that I'll get a majority of the (Senate) votes."

The Nov. 8 session was called to consider a report by a special committee headed by Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) which heard misconduct charges against McCarthy and recommended that he be censured by the Senate on three specific counts.

McCarthy said he has not done any checking on how many senators would vote against the censure move, but that he has no hope they will form a majority.

Ike Has Slight Touch Of Bursitis

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower did not let Thursday night his customary gesture of greeting—both arms outstretched above his head—because of what the White House called some discomfort.

"The President has either a slight touch of bursitis or some slight strain in his right shoulder," Pres. Secretary James C. Hagerty said.

Newsmen had noted that in his appearance before a Citizens for Eisenhower congressional committee dinner, the President had waved only with his left arm.

Hagerty said the ailment developed late Thursday, and that the President had not had medical treatment. While in the Army several years ago Eisenhower suffered an attack of bursitis—in the inflammation of the joint—in the right shoulder.

Editorial Comment

VOTERS AND FOREIGN POLICY

One of the notable facts of this election campaign is that people do not seem much interested in foreign-policy questions.

When trouble is acute, when war or the threat of it stirs them, they will attend to foreign issues. But when there is no crisis at hand, they turn quickly to domestic and private concerns.

Currently this is a matter of some unhappiness to candidates in both parties.

Republicans would like to get credit for the Korean peace, the Indo-China settlement, and various other agreements easing tensions in places like Egypt, Iran, Trieste, and Guatemala.

They would also like endorsement for the SEATO Pact on Southeast Asia and for the American role in bringing off the new London Pact which draws Germany into the Allied defense orbit.

The Democrats, on the other hand, have been going about telling everybody that the GOP foreign policy is a mess.

They say the Eisenhower regime has cost the nation prestige and reputation in many parts of the world, that we try to dictate policy to our allies instead of enlisting them as partners, that wherever Ike's emissaries go they spread confusion and doubt.

But neither they nor the Republicans are striking any popular chords. People are just not excited about such things right now.

Part of the reason may be that they have grown to distrust political argument in this field more than anywhere else.

Certainly exaggeration has been more common here in recent years than in other areas, possibly because politicians realize the facts are so hard to come by.

Foreign-policy debate may never command all the attention it deserves when no real urgency exists. But perhaps its chances would be better if the give and take on both sides were more rational and less marked by overstatement.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

MORGANVILLE, N. J. (P) — Parents, when a son is drafted for military service, sometimes complain:

"I wouldn't want my boy to duck his duty to the country. But it does seem such a terrible waste of time, now that we are at peace. And he's so young. He'll be surrounded by all kinds of temptations. It's so easy for a kid his age to go wrong."

Whenever I hear a father or mother carry on like this, I feel like telling them the story of Steve Lavoie. His career is an example of how military service, far from hurting a kid, can help him get his feet on the ground and find a real goal in life.

Steve, silver-haired but still tough-fisted at 52, is about as rugged an individual as any left in the land. He likes to hunt bears in Canada, buffalo or leopards in Africa, because he cherishes the intense feeling of aliveness that comes in moments of danger. He also operates a 12 million dollar a year electronics firm, and gets a similar thrill hunting down the solution to an intricate problem in engineering.

As a friend said of Lavoie, a Winthrop, Mass., boy who won success the hard way:

"He is a guy who's never really happy unless he's walking some kind of a tight rope."

This is Steve's saga:

"I was a problem child in high school. Never in any big trouble, but always in some kind of mischief."

A heart-to-heart talk with a sympathetic teacher convinced Steve he was wasting his time. Although he was 16, he managed to enlist in the Navy by fibbing about his age. The Navy sent him to radio school, mustered him out with disability pay after two years because of an injury.

He had no money, less than two years of high school credits. But he talked Northeastern College into admitting him as a special student by promising to catch up on his high school work in the summer months. For a time he picked up some change by fighting as a pro boxer.

"My first year I flunked five subjects," he said. "But I made them up during the summer. The next year I flunked one, and after that I didn't flunk any."

By stubborn boning he managed both to complete his high school work and graduate from college on schedule.

His Lavoie laboratories, born in a basement, mushroomed during the war. Steve now has 500 employees and three plants that turn out a number of devices used in the nation's radar defense network.

The U. S. Navy, which turned Steve from a problem kid into a man with a goal, now employs his inventions on its ships and planes.

This isn't the end of Steve's saga, but it does point the moral—that the discipline a kid gets while serving Uncle Sam is an asset, not a handicap.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD UP — The lion is not the king of the jungle.

The culture is not such a bad creature after all.

These are some of the things I learned from a fascinating couple named Al and Elma Milott. They have just returned from two years and eight months in Africa where they filmed another of Walt Disney's nature studies, "The Lion and His Domain."

Can you imagine being alone with your wife or husband 24 hours a day for most of two years and eight months? That's the way it was with the Milotts during their African stay. It might prove wearing to most couples, but the Milotts are a remarkable pair.

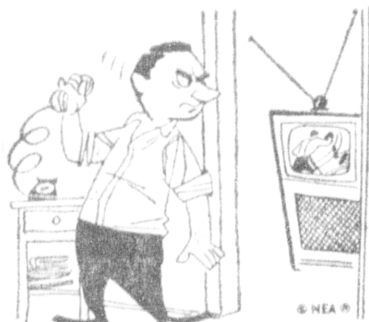

Mrs. Milott, a plump, happy woman, began her love of nature early. Her father was a Seattle newspaperman who loved the outdoors, and Elma took to the campfire girl routine. She helped convert Al, a University of Washington graduate, after they married and set up a photography studio in Ketchikan, Alaska.

They learned some interesting facts about the animals.

"The lion is not the king of the jungle. The elephant is. He can go anywhere he wants. The lion will give way to an elephant or a rhino. But the lion will attack a baby elephant."

"The vulture is not such a bad fellow after all. He does a fine job of keeping the wilds clean by consuming the remains of animals."

Manners Make Friends

It's good manners to consider the habits of your friends when you are tempted to telephone for a chat. For instance, if you know about a young mother bathes her baby in the morning, don't call her at that time. Or if a friend naps every afternoon, call her in the morning.

Nor does a man like to be called on the telephone during his favorite TV program.

Make use of what you know about your friends — if you want to be considerate.

HURRICANE REFUGEE FAR FROM DESISTUTE

BRAMPTON, Ont. (P) — When Mrs. Alice Barrow, a 78-year-old Hurricane Hazel refugee, applied for admission to the local old people's home officials thought she was destitute.

Then in an old leather purse among her belongings, an official noticed a bulge in the lining. "Just stuffing I sewed in," she said. But the stuffing proved to be $16,000 in $100 bills. Also there was a bank book with more than $4,000 entered.

"I was saving for my old age and for a trip to England," she said, "but I didn't think I had enough money."

She said she hadn't put all the money in the bank because she was afraid of bank robbers.

HAND MADE

PHILADELPHIA (P) — Eugene Ormandy, conductor of the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, has collected quite a stack of reviews from his concert swing abroad. The headline on one reads:

Ormandy Beats the Band with his Bare Hands.

There was no violence. The reviewer meant was that Ormandy, unlike most European conductors, spurns a baton in favor of his hands.

Colored Glasses, Tinted Windshields Add To Danger of Driving Your Car at Night

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

At least one question of a practical nature which has caused a good deal of discussion seems to have been definitely answered.

Q Several of us were debating the advisability of wearing tinted glasses or driving in a car with a colored windshield as a method of preventing glare while driving at night. Is this desirable or not?

A—It seems to be quite generally agreed that driving at night is more dangerous when the driver wears colored glasses or sits behind a tinted windshield. Both together are worse than either one alone; pink glasses and a green windshield are apparently the worst. The reason is that tinted glass cuts down on the ability to see and therefore increases the danger of accidents. It has been suggested that glare from night driving could be reduced if automobile headlights were designed to spread over a wider area.

Q I am bothered with a terrible itch in my scalp and there are little bumps all over my head. At times it goes away for a couple of days and then comes back. I am at my wits end.

A—There are several possible diseases of the skin of the scalp which could be responsible. Possibly the most likely is a condition known as seborrheic dermatitis. I can well imagine that this is driving you wild and should think that you deserve the aid of a skin specialist.

Q I have Christian Weber's Disease and can't find anything about it.

A—This is an inflammation of the fatty tissue lying under the skin. Its origin is rather obscure. It is a chronic condition associated with fever and nodules. It is also quite rare and a perfect is still being sought.

Q My husband and I are a young married couple of three years. We are childless and my husband believes that the reason is because he was born prematurely. Could this be true?

A—Almost certainly not. There are many possible causes for childlessness and indeed combinations of causes are often present, but premature birth of one of the married partners is unlikely to play any part.

Q Please say something about the common sty.

A—This is an inflammation of one or more oil glands on the eyelid. Eyestrain is sometimes a factor in the development of styes, but not infrequently a definite cause cannot be traced. Hot packs, ointments containing penicillin or other similar preparations, surgery and attempts to relieve eyestrain at present are the best lines of attack.

Q Can a person become an alcoholic from drinking beer only? My husband claims it is not possible and that one has to drink whiskey too.

A—Few alcoholics limit themselves to beer and while it is theoretically possible for a person to become an alcoholic from beer alone it does not seem likely in the commonly accepted definition of "alcoholic."

Reds Are Staging All-Out Propaganda Drive in Italy

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

ROME, Italy.—(NEA)—Open signs of Communist strength and Communist propaganda are found all over northern Italy. A 2000-mile motor trip by this correspondent — from Rome north to the Swiss-Austrian border and from Trieste and Venice on the east to Genoa and Milan on the west—revealed this force in almost every town and city. It also revealed surprisingly little anti-Communist counter-propaganda to offset the Red drive.

The Communist hammer and sickle emblem and Communist slogans are painted on walls. L'Unita, the Communist newspaper printed in four Italian cities, is sold on all newsstands and more widely advertised by billboards and posters than non-Communist papers.

In rural areas, L'Unita is pasted on walls or stuck up on bulletin boards erected at crossroads or on public squares especially for this purpose.

Ferrara has a Communist lady mayor. In Trieste, across the street from American and British headquarters, flies the red flag of the Communist labor unions. When the former Free Territory to the Italians, the Stars and Stripes and the Union Jack will be gone, but the Red flag will remain.

A POSTER IN VENICE was headed: "Oppose the H-bomb—Oppose the EDC" (European Defense Community). Beneath these slogans the text: "Manifest your vote for peace and the rebirth of Venice by voting Communist."

There are "Viva Togliatti!" slogans scrawled and painted on many walls, praising the Italian Communist Party head.

L'Unita and the Communist orators have played up at every opportunity the Wilma Montesi murder scandal, involving the son of former Italian Foreign Minister Piccioni, as evidence of corruption in the Centrist government. Slogans in many places proclaimed: "For honest government—vote Communist."

These are but typical examples. Many others could be cited. In opposition to them are few obvious countermeasures. An exception was a new poster pasted on the walls of a church in Venice, detailing the atrocities committed against the Catholics in Communist Albania. It drew interested readers. More such posters would be effective.

BUT IN THE MAIN, the non-

Communist or anti-Communist poster campaign seemed to be concentrated on such constructive but hard-to-sell issues as the United Europe movement, or the implied benefits to be derived from a Marshall Plan-financed Milan steel mill.

In Trieste itself came an admission from U. S. Information Agency officials that 75 per cent of the social affairs and political meetings held in that city were Communist inspired and organized. The head of the Communist Party in Trieste, one Vittorio Vitali, was conceded to be a smart, Beria-trained political operator.

To meet his propaganda USA was showing an exhibit of old prints of early American history. It was said to be drawing 2000 or more visitors a day.

In Venice, the American culture message was being delivered by the American Negro opera, "Porgy and Bess," at $10 a ticket top.

USA has six branch offices in Italy. They are located in downtown areas where their American libraries appeal to the better classes. But the Communists are found out in the suburbs and in the rural districts, appealing to the people who have grievances, through labor meetings, farm meetings, women's meetings, youth rallies, parties.

AMERICAN OFFICIALS admit that in the last elections, some of the areas in which American aid has been heaviest, the Communist vote increased. In land reform areas where peasants are being given six acres at half price, the Communists are promising 12.

A man out of a job or a farmer with a bad crop, becomes a Communist at least temporarily. People who formerly walked and now have bicycles want motorcycles. People with motorcycles want autos. The Communist organizers feed discontent.

Some Italians believe that Italy is fundamentally sound and that the Communist threat is overemphasized. The Communist vote was "only" 22 per cent of the total in the last election. There are "only" 143 Communists out of 590 in the Chamber of Deputies. There are "only" 1700 Communist cells of ten or more members subject to party discipline.

Premier Scelba's administration is waging effective warfare to get the Communists out of the government buildings they have held since the end of the war. Still, it is no crackdown.

Eggs, Turkey and Beef Are Your Best November Buys

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

The food picture for November is superabundant in many items particularly eggs, turkeys and beef. So use these foods frequently; prices will be lower.

There will be plentiful supplies of pork—that's news. Lots of cheese, too, and more rice than growers know what to do with. Dry beans, almonds, walnuts, filberts, prunes and dates, as well as frozen fish are also on the abundant list.

Here's the official national list of plentiful foods for November from U. S. Department of Agriculture:

Eggs, turkeys, beef, dairy products, broilers and fryers, pork, prunes, rice, almonds, dates, dry beans, walnuts, filberts, frozen fish, vegetable shortening, shrimp, salad oils.

Here's a recipe for your special-dishes cookbook:

Noodles With Chicken Livers and Onion Sauce (Makes 4-6 servings)

One pound chicken livers, salt, pepper and flour, 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, 2 10-ounce cans condensed onion soup, 1 tablespoon salt, 3 quarts boiling water, 8 ounces medium egg noodles (about 4 cups), 1/2 cup milk.

Sprinkle livers with salt and pepper and dredge with flour. Melt butter or margarine over medium heat and add livers; cook over medium heat until lightly browned. Add soup and bring to a boil; cover and cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, until livers are done, about 20 minutes.

Meanwhile, add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add noodles so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Serve noodles with liver sauce.

SUNDAY'S DINNER: Grapefruit, roast stuffed turkey, giblet gravy, raw cranberry relish, baked potatoes, buttered Brussels sprouts, Parker House rolls, butter or margarine, celery and raw carrot sticks, coconut custard pie, coffee, tea, milk.

'Old Rockin' Chair's Got Me' Ditched by 70-Year-Olds

When Eleanor Roosevelt celebrated her seventieth birthday recently newspapers made much of the fact that it was going to be just another routine day so far as the former First Lady was concerned, and that she didn't intend to let that seventieth milestone slow her down one bit.

The interesting thing about Mrs. Roosevelt's belief that reaching 70 doesn't mean that one has become an old lady is that it is shared by so many up-and-coming women today.

Women today are breezing through the seventies usefully, happily and sometimes even gaily.

To many of them the seventieth birthday means just one thing—that now they have reached the place in life where they can do what they really want to do.

So you see them taking up new hobbies and often excelling at some form of self-expression. You find them traveling when they have the money for it, in a determined effort to see as much of the world as possible.

THEY WEAR BIRTHDAYS LIGHTLY

You see them busy with active social lives or hard at work earning a living or doing the many community chores that younger women can't find time for.

You'll find them running their own households, driving their own cars, planting gardens, going to ball games, taking a keen interest in world affairs.

They are, it seems to me, one of the wonders of this age—these women who wear their birthdays lightly and see no one particular birthday as the time when they must give up and become old ladies.

In shrugging off her seventieth birthday as of no particular importance, Mrs. Roosevelt isn't leading the parade—she is just one among many.

Women today haven't found the fountain of youth. But they are discovering the next best thing—how to meet old age with young hearts.

GOING TO THE CLEANERS—Most everyone in Frankfurt, Germany, seems to like this idea—it's a machine that beats and vacuum-cleans rugs and carpets. The owner rolls the machine into a neighborhood, puts the carpets in one side and takes them out on the other side all cleaned.

Interpreting The News

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

The last few days of the election campaign have brought a tremendous increase in political noise, but there are few signs of a corresponding increase in public interest.

The Republicans, especially, are making a vigorous last minute effort to turn what has been generally appraised as a strong trend toward the Democrats. The President's advisers have insisted that he be much more active than he had wished.

Candidates Of Both Parties In League Skit

Mrs. C. L. Kanatzar, voters' service chairman, in charge of the October meeting of the League of Women Voters, introduced Mrs. Marvin Schuetz who presented a skit in which candidates in the coming election were impersonated by League members. Each participant had a large placard with a candidate's name and told the qualifications of new candidates and the records of those running for reelection.

All national, state and county candidates of both political parties were represented in an effort to give the voter the facts about the people who will represent them in all levels of government.

Welfare chairman, Mrs. Dorothy Winn, announced that a tour of the Jacksonville State Hospital will be arranged for League members and the Welfare Committee will be in charge of the November 22 meeting.

Mrs. Ernest Hildner, president, called the attention of members to issues of the Saturday Evening Post and the Look magazine which carry articles about the League of Women Voters.

Ten complaints have been named for the Reapportionment campaign. Members will ring doorbells to remind citizens to vote November 2 and to vote the Blue Ballot in favor of Reapportionment of the State of Illinois.

Two Television Sets Given To State Hospital

The District Commander of the military order of Cooties, C. Worley Aden, and Carlyle White, Commander of Pup Tent No. 63 Cooties, and William Schroeder, of Taylorville, Ill., recently presented a television set to the Jacksonville State Hospital, to be located on one of the veterans' wards.

The set is to be installed as soon as the co-axial cable extension from the master antenna can be completed to the veterans diagnostic building.

Several weeks previously, a television set had been purchased for the veterans unit by the Illinois State Victory Mothers of East St. Louis, and both sets are awaiting final installation.

Hurt In Accident Near Alexander

Louis L. Wester, Jr., 25, residing on Ashland rural route 2, was a patient at Passavant hospital Friday after an automobile accident that occurred on State Route 123, north of Alexander.

Wester was driving along the highway at 12:50 o'clock Friday morning when he lost control of the car and it struck an abutment, overturning on the pavement.

At the hospital he was reported to be suffering from a back injury and abrasions on his side.

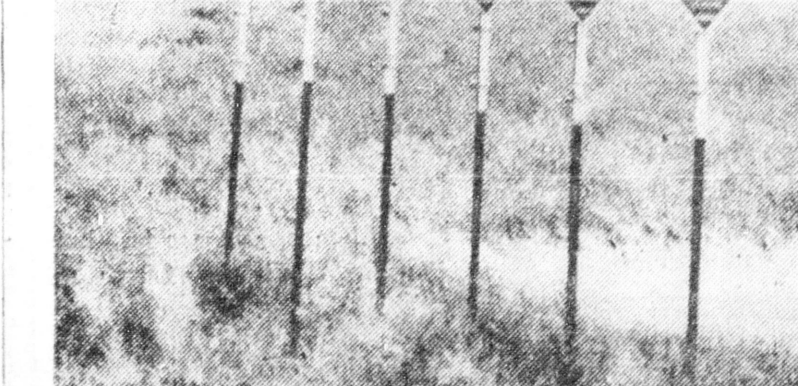

Deputy Sheriff Staly Koller and Harold Wright were called to the place of the accident.

HUSBAND ASKS DIVORCE, CHARGING DESERTION

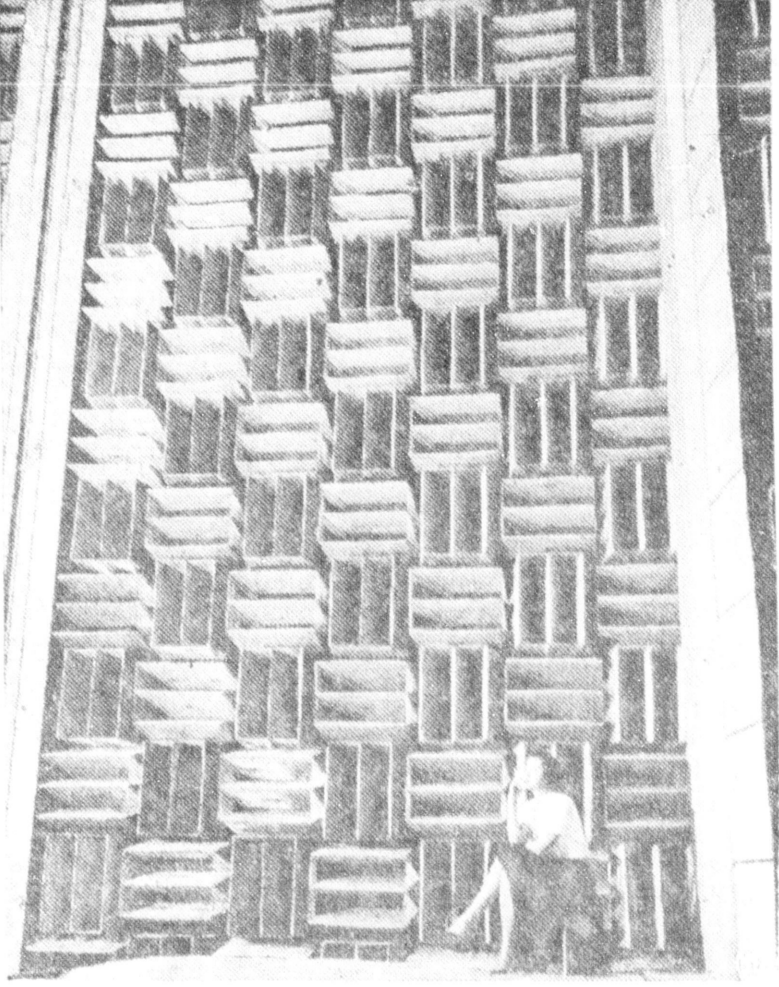

M. Nathan Day has brought suit against Aleta K. Day in Morgan county circuit court, asking a decree of divorce on grounds of alleged desertion. They are parents of a two year old child which the plaintiff said is now in custody of the defendant, and he considers it to be in the best interests of the child if he remains with the defendant.

The couple was married Aug. 14, 1951, at Shawneetown, Ill., and lived together until Oct. 15, 1953. The plaintiff is represented by Attorney Russell J. Alvarez.

PTA Moves To End Costello Found Teacher Shortage Shot: Figured In Greenlease Probe

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—The Minnesota Congress of Parents and Teachers is acting to meet the teacher shortage by doubling its scholarship fund for high school graduates taking up education as a career.

The PTA board of managers, covering four years, voted Thursday in a post-convention session to extend scholarships yearly to 16 deserving students. Each selected from the state's five PTA districts entered teacher training courses this fall. In return for scholarships, recipients agree to teach at least one year in Minnesota after completing schooling.

TRAFFIC DEATHS DOWN 9TH STRAIGHT MONTH IN SEPTEMBER

CHICAGO (AP)—Traffic deaths in the United States, for the ninth straight month, showed a decrease in September, says the National Safety Council.

"Not since the early years of World War II when gasoline rationing went into effect, has there been an unbroken string of reductions for the first nine months of any year," the Council said Thursday in reporting 25,770 traffic deaths for the first nine months of 1954. This was a reduction of 6 per cent from the corresponding period of 1953.

Kiwanis Club Reports $5,300 For Chest Fund

Jewell A. Mann, general chairman of the current Red Feather Campaign, announced Friday that the Jacksonville Kiwanis club turned in a total of $5,300 at its regular meeting Thursday. This represents 52 1/2 per cent of its $10,000 goal.

"The Kiwanis report is very encouraging and, to me, indicates once again that when there's a real job to do in the community, our service clubs are always ready to help out," Supt. Mann said.

All Kiwanians were urged to finish their unworked cards and to either get them in to the Red Feather office, or bring them to the meeting next Thursday.

Deacons Complain Pastor Drives Out Paying Members

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Deacons and trustees of a Dallas church appeared in District Court here and gained an order restraining the pastor from having anything more to do with the church.

He had already been told to leave, they said, but had refused. The complaint was that he had "driven out of the church the old saintly members—and more particularly the paying members."

According to testimony, the Rev. John Wesley Hackett, object of the ouster, said he would not be bossed by "limber-leg deacons, petticoat deacons and deacons of no sense."

Other complaints of the deacons at Roe's Chapel Baptist Church listed Hackett as a "dictator" who said the Holy Ghost told him to remain at the church. They also said he hired a piano player of his own choice, ignoring wishes of the church board.

Mario Lanza Shows TV Audience He Can Still Sing

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Mario Lanza proved to a nationwide television audience Thursday night that he still can sing.

Last month he merely mouthed the words to two-year-old records in making his TV debut on CBS-TV's "Shower of Stars." A source close to the singer said then that a strenuous reducing program had impaired his voice.

In a talk preceding Thursday night's show, CBS vice president Harry Ackerman explained the need for pre-recording certain song numbers that follow strenuous dance routines. Else, the singers would be so out of wind they could not properly sing. However, one portion of tonight's show is not pre-recorded.

"Any sound which issues from the throat of Mario Lanza you may rest assured is Mario Lanza's."

The husky tenor sang an aria from the opera "Tosca" and "One Day" from "The Vagabond King."

He told a reporter he got $40,000 for Thursday night's performance, the same sum he said he received for his debut to old records.

TOUCHDOWN FOR YOU?

Watch that Quarterback carry the ball! He's over for a touchdown... and victory!

But it was more than an outstanding run by a great quarterback. The coach had carefully worked out the play. It had been practiced over and over. There were signals, blocking, deception—all according to pattern.

In the game of life, you must carry the ball. You must strive toward the goal. But you must not run blindly and without help. To win, you must run according to pattern—this one the Master Pattern—of love and brotherhood.

Come to Church. Learn how to live from Him who is the Master Coach. Win the victory of peace and salvation.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

AGED PAINTER

DAVISBURG, Mich. — In a country home that overlooks a pleasant green valley not far from industrial heartland of the state lives an 84-year-old woman who is often called "The Grandma Moses of Michigan."

But unlike the celebrated Eagle Ridge, New York artist, Eve Ferrer has been painting a long time ever since she was 10.

Some of her work she sells. But most she gives away.

Thirteen years ago she had a studio in a fashionable Detroit suburb. But so many people came to the studio she had little time to paint.

She is a mother of seven and great-great grandmother of five.

PREMIUM ANTI-FREEZE

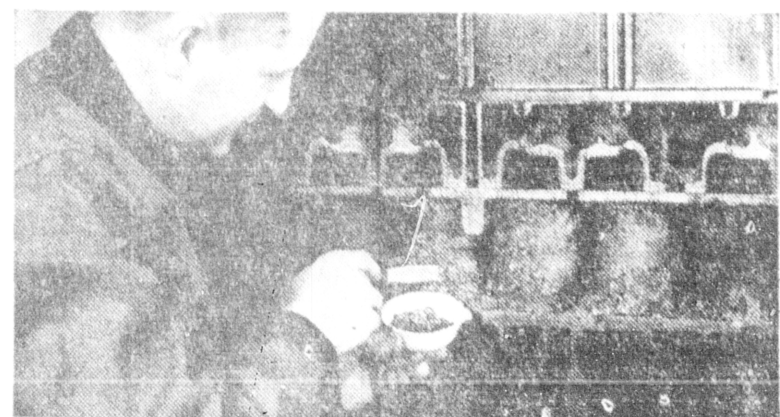

WITH TRI-PRO, THE TRIPLE-PROTECTION INGREDIENT

Get all the protection your car's engine needs with new Cities Service Premium Anti-Freeze. This great new anti-freeze formula contains Tri-Pro, a special triple-protection ingredient. In addition to freeze-up protection, Cities Service Premium Anti-Freeze guards against:

- (1) RUST, which clogs your cooling system, impairs operating efficiency and may cause engine failure.
- (2) SEEPAGE, or penetration of the anti-freeze into the combustion chamber, where it may form a dangerous coating of "varnish" on cylinder walls.
- (3) FOAMING, which severely reduces cooling efficiency and may result in loss of the anti-freeze itself.

Don't be satisfied with cold weather safeguards that give only partial protection. Go to your Cities Service dealer and get the premium anti-freeze with Tri-Pro, for extra triple protection. Once you have, you'll know you're safe, whatever the temperature, all through the winter months ahead. Demand new Cities Service Premium Anti-Freeze and forget cold weather driving worries!

This cutaway view of an automobile engine shows what can happen when the cooling system is not properly maintained. New Cities Service Premium Anti-Freeze protects against dangerous rust, which damaged this engine so severely that it could not possibly have operated at peak efficiency.

Amvet Auxiliary Delegate Explains Need For Donors

At the Amvet Auxiliary meeting held in the Amvet Hall Tuesday, Oct. 26, Irene Sanders, delegate to the Recent Red Cross meeting, impressed the members with the importance of the Red Cross in making its quota when the bloodmobile visits Jacksonville Thursday and Friday of this week. She strongly urged all members to call 1844 for an appointment, or to visit Grace Methodist church when they can find the time either day from noon until 6 p.m. while unit is here. President Vasconcellos, a registered nurse, stressed the importance of having the blood bank here and told how the program works.

Millie Poole, who is leading the auxiliary in its work with the Morgan County Community Chest, outlined the territory the members will cover and assigned teams. Members working with her are Irene Hoffmann, Hazel Siegfried, Jo Vasconcellos, Eleanor Anderson, Velma Switzer and Irene Sanders. An interesting and lively discussion was held regarding the work the Community Chest does and the auxiliary.

Listen to F. J. (Jack) Andrews, Republican Candidate for Sheriff over WLDs Sunday, Oct. 31, 12:45 p. m. ary voted a donation of $20.00 to the Chest.

A membership drive is now in progress. Eleanor Anderson and Eda Lee Beadles are chairman and announced that a steak dinner will be held early in November for all members who have paid their dues for 1955. Any women interested in joining the local Amvet Auxiliary is asked to contact a member. Guests are always welcome at the meetings, which are held on the 2nd and 4th Tuesdays of the month at Amvet Hall on West State street at 8 p.m.

A party was held at Oaklawn Sanatorium Tuesday, Oct. 26, by Maxine Rahe and Midge Roberts of the Rehabilitation Committee. Pie was served and the patients were presented with favors and candy in keeping with the Halloween season.

Eda Lee Beadles reported on the third district meeting held recently in Danville. Amvets throughout the country are working on plans to build a home for widows and children of World War II veterans and the Auxiliaries are asked to work to help in this worthwhile project.

The Auxiliary was enthusiastic about participation in the Armistice Day parade. Irene Sanders and Midge Roberts have been appointed to make plans for decorating a float. The meeting closed with prayer by Eleanor Anderson. Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Roberts. The next meeting will be held Nov. 9.

U.S. Sweet-Tooth Causes Sour-Tooth Dentist Reports

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Americans consume 100 pounds of sugar per person a year and that giant sweet tooth "causes a sour tooth of equally gigantic proportions," a dental expert said Thursday.

"The sour acids of tooth decay affect 95 per cent of our population," said Dr. Paul E. Boyle, professor of oral histology and pathology at the University of Pennsylvania School of Dentistry.

Boyle, speaking at the 37th annual meeting of the American Dietetic Assn., said sweets cause most tooth decay.

"Studies have shown that nutritional deficiencies do not cause cavities," he said. "They affect teeth only while the teeth are still being formed."

He said experiments have shown that fluorine in tiny amounts during the period of tooth formation reduces the occurrence of cavities by at least 50 per cent.

Pittsfield Hunters Get Their Game

PITTSFIELD—Sportsmen of this county report that not many ducks have been killed since the opening of the season. Austin Alitzer, Jr., clerk of the Circuit Court, reports that he has been able to go to his blind on the river. He and six friends bagged the limit of four each one day and fourteen the next day. Large flocks of geese have been heard over the city at night in their flight south the past week.

Lee Brace, assistant cashier at the Farmers State Bank, reports that he bagged a deer while hunting in Colorado, and Tom Troughton, contractor, also got a deer near Jackson Hole, Wyo., recently. A number of deer were apparently being killed somewhere where the deer population is large, as a car carrying a deer on its fender, a frequently seen driving east on the highway.

10 DIE, 20 MISSING IN LANDSLIDE IN COLOMBIA

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—A landslide destroyed the hamlet of Buebe Tuesday night, delayed press dispatches reported Thursday. Ten bodies were recovered from the debris and 20 persons are missing. A lake formed by heavy rain-falls burst a natural dam and set off the landslide which swept over the mountainside community.

OFFICIAL WITNESSES

DETROIT (AP)—It cost Chester P. Malinowski of Detroit a $15 traffic ticket to get some evidence for his pending divorce suit. Police said he deliberately ran his car into another vehicle when he saw his wife in it riding with a strange man. Malinowski said he wanted official police witnesses that his wife was going around with other men.

PITTSFIELD

PITTSFIELD—Pfc. Robert Niebur, son of Mrs. Gladys Niebur of this city, is having a furlough of forty days following service in the Signal Corps at Fort Bragg, N. C. He is visiting his wife and baby son in Quincy and his mother and other relatives here. He has been assigned to overseas service and will be located in Paris, France, at the termination of his leave. He hopes to have his family join him there next summer.

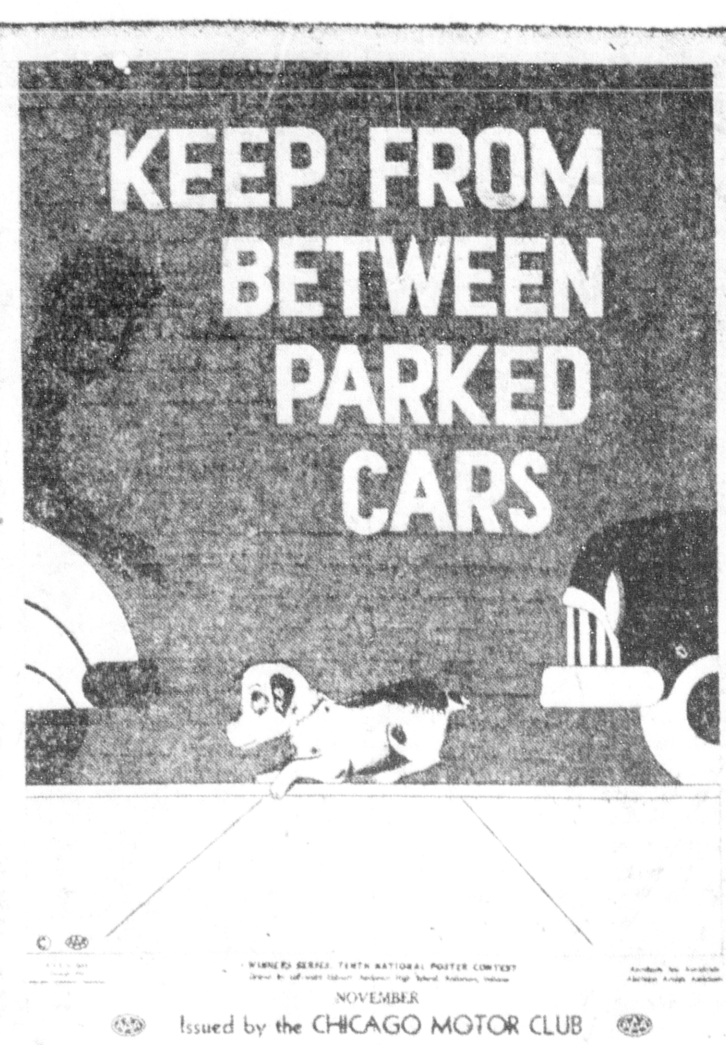

Lieut. Harry Finson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Finson, and his wife, are visiting his parents here. He has been in the Air Force service in Japan for eighteen months. Following a leave of thirty days he will report to Stewart Air Force Base at Smyrna, Tenn., where he will be stationed.

Steve Hoover, automobile salesman with the R. C. Gray Chevrolet Company, and a former sheriff of Pike county, has purchased the Frank J. Adamson general store in Milton. He states that he has not completed his plans for its operation at this time. The Adamson store on the south side of the square in Milton has been in operation for many years and serves a wide area in the neighborhood.

James Gibbs, minister of the Church of Christ in this city for the past two years, plans to locate elsewhere soon. During his ministry the church membership has grown and a new church building has been erected on South Memorial street. The church is seeking a minister to take his place. Jack Duncan, of Springfield, Ill., preached for the congregation Thursday and was well received by the membership.

Miss Nellie Haskins was admitted to Illinois hospital Wednesday afternoon following a severe heart attack in her home at 437 West Washington street. Her condition on Thursday morning was reported at the hospital as fair.

Mrs. Charles Durham, aged mother of County Clerk Virgil Durham, who has been confined to a wheel

This humorous presentation of a very important safety message will be distributed to 44,000 primary school classrooms in Illinois and Indiana by the Chicago Motor Club during November. The importance of keeping from "between parked cars" is shown the children in class discussion, also. But, in November's early darkness, it also is the responsibility of the motorist to be alert, in the event a youngster should heedlessly dash into traffic from between cars. The poster is a top prize winner in a national contest sponsored by the American Automobile Association among high school students.

chair for a number of years with arthritis, and confined to her bed since June, was able to join her family at the dinner table this week. Members of the family living in the home are Mrs. Durham, her son Virgil and wife and Mrs. Josephine Baker. Mrs. Baker will observe her 94th birthday soon. She is active about the home and interested in world events and she and Mrs. Durham spend many happy hours together.

Rev. Darrell Malcom, pastor of the Christian church in Milton, has something new to offer in the way of a church service. He has issued invitation to all political candidates to attend services at his church next Sunday night when he will speak on the subject of "How The Christian Should Vote."

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Green left Thursday morning for Bloomington, accompanied by Mrs. Green's mother, Mrs. Frank Slocum, who will make an extended visit there with her daughter Mrs. William Garner and family. Mr. and Mrs. Green plan to spend a few days in Decatur visiting friends before their return home.

Mrs. Rena Diamond has received word of the death of her relative, Warren Pryor, in Salida, Colorado. Mr. Pryor, a native of Pike County left here forty years ago to make his home in the west. He is survived by several children who are also residents of western states. Services and burial were held in Salida.

The condition of Johnson Jex, antique dealer, who has been critically ill in Illinois hospital, is reported as unimproved on Thursday morning.

WET HEAT
SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—When they turn water into their new industrial heaters, two inventors here have trouble convincing people they are not trying to burn the water. They superheat steam in white-hot tubes and use it to atomize oil which is the real fuel.

George W. Jackson and Bill G. Daugherty say their method gets more heat out of the oil. They have produced a number of the big heaters and hope to develop one small enough to heat an ordinary home.

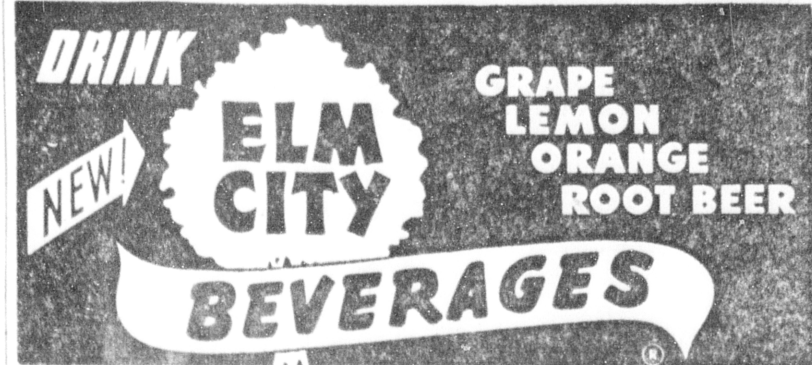

Big trouble is, things get so hot in their burners that metals usually put into furnaces won't stand up. For the small heaters they plan to use metals which have been developed for jet engines.

CONSTITUTION BALLOT

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO SECTIONS 6, 7
AND 8 OF ARTICLE IV
(Legislative Apportionment Amendment)
Explanation of Amendment

This amendment would direct the General Assembly to redistrict the State for the purpose of electing one Senator from each of 58 senatorial districts and three Representatives from each of 59 representative districts.

As concerns the Senate, area would be the "prime consideration" in the formation of the 58 districts. Downstate would be entitled to 34 districts and Cook county to 24 districts, 18 of them in Chicago and six in the county outside Chicago.

As concerns the House of Representatives, the 59 districts would be based upon equal population as nearly as practical, except that in the redistricting prior to the 1960 census, downstate would be entitled to 29 districts and Cook county to 30 districts, 23 of them in Chicago and seven in the county outside Chicago. The three Representatives from each district would be elected by cumulative voting, as at present.

Should the General Assembly fail to re-district as directed, this duty would fall on a commission appointed by the Governor. The State central committees of the two major parties would each submit a list of 10 nominees to the Governor, who would appoint five from each list, making a 10 member commission. Should the commission fail to re-district, Senators coming up at the next election and all Representatives would be elected from the State at large. If the resulting General Assembly still failed to redistrict, a new commission would be appointed, as before and should this second commission fail to redistrict, legislators would again be elected at large—and so forth until a valid redistricting is secured.

YES	For the proposed amendment to Sections 6, 7 and 8 of Article IV of the Constitution (Legislative Apportionment).
NO

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO SECTIONS 1, 2
AND 3 OF ARTICLE V
(State Treasurer Amendment)
Explanation of Amendment

This amendment changes the length of the term of office of the State Treasurer from two years to four years. The Treasurer will remain ineligible to succeed himself in office.

YES	For the proposed amendment to Sections 1, 2 and 3 of Article V of the Constitution (State Treasurer).
NO

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE SEPARATE
SECTION OF THE CONSTITUTION PERTAINING TO CANALS AND WATERWAYS
(Illinois and Michigan Canal Amendment)
Explanation of Amendment

This amendment would eliminate:

1. The present requirement that the Illinois and Michigan canal or other canal or waterway may be sold or leased only with specific approval of a majority of the voters participating in a general State election; and
2. the provision under which the Illinois deep waterway was financed and constructed.

YES	For the proposed amendment to separate section of the Constitution pertaining to canals and waterways (Illinois and Michigan Canal).
NO

Most Demos Agree With GOP Foreign Policy: Douglas

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) said today "most Democrats firmly agree with the Eisenhower wing of the GOP on foreign trade and the Bricker amendment."

Douglas made the statement in a speech prepared for delivery at a rally in Evanston. The senator is seeking reelection against GOP candidate Joseph T. Meek.

Douglas promised "continued constructive cooperation with the Eisenhower administration on an effective foreign policy."

He said: "This means that the President can count on me and other Democrats in the extension of bipartisan leadership in the intricate and delicate dealings with other nations."

"It means that we shall fight side-by-side with the President against the opposition of the Old Guard Republicans to an expanding foreign trade program. It means that with our help, the President need have no fear of the backward Bricker amendment."

Douglas added: "The man who developed the administration foreign trade program is our fellow Illinoisan, Clarence Randall. Dr. Randall represents the enlightened element of the Republican elephant, and the commission he headed recommended a three-year extension of the reciprocal trade program."

"I worked to get the Randall recommendations adopted by the Senate. Certainly they did not contain everything I had hoped for, but they were basically sound and did not warrant carrying criticism. The Old Guard Republicans stayed in the saddle, however, and cut back even the modest Randall proposals."

Douglas said it was his vote that saved one day for the President. He said it was a one vote margin which defeated the Bricker amendment.

HE'S A PEDAL-PUSHER—Latest gadget in the fast-growing sport of skin-diving is the aquaped, which this diver is demonstrating at Azusa, Calif. Something like an underwater unicycle, it propels the swimmer more efficiently than swim fins. The swimmer sits on a bicycle-like seat, straps on suspenders to hold the aquaped in place and then pedals away as he would on a bicycle. Pedals are geared to two propellers, counter-rotating to eliminate torque. Being almost wholly aluminum, the device is light in weight.

He added: "I wish my opponent would wake up to the necessity of expanding foreign trade and realize the dangers of the Bricker amendment. However, this Republican Rip Van Winkle has been asleep too long."

Charge Mine Union Official Lied: Denied He Was Red

DENVER (AP) — Maurice E. Travis, secretary-treasurer and former president of the 100,000-member International Union of Mine, Mill & Smelter Workers (Ind.), was arrested here Thursday on charges of lying when he said he was not a Communist party member.

Travis was free today on $10,000 bond posted immediately on being taken before U. S. Commissioner Joseph Neff late Thursday.

The arrest, announced by the Justice Department in Washington, while U. S. marshals were picking up Travis at union headquarters here, stemmed from a 6-count indictment handed down Thursday by a 23-member federal grand jury in Denver.

The jury met in secret sessions dating from Oct. 18 to hear evidence presented by U. S. Atty. Donald E. Kelley.

Kelley declined comment when asked if other union officials are under investigation.

The mine-mill union was ousted from the CIO in 1950 for alleged Communist domination.

In Washington, it was disclosed recently that Travis' union was one of those being investigated in mulling the attorney general to summon alleged Communist-infiltrated unions before the subversive activities control board.

A board finding of infiltration would deprive the union of any dealings with or services of the National Labor Relations Board until such time as it can show that Communist influence has been eliminated.

CHILD, 15-MONTHS-OLD, KILLED BY TRACTOR

STERLING, Ill. (AP) — A 15-month-old girl was crushed to death Thursday by a tractor driven by her grandfather. She was Julie Ann Geeting, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne W. Geeting. The child ran into the path of the tractor. The grandfather, Frank Geeting, swerved to avoid her but she tripped and was hit.

PARDON GRANTED

WARMINGTON, Va. (AP) — "Lady" is never a quiet cocker spaniel but she has the pardon of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Somerville for disturbing their sleep. When they switched on the light they found Lady dodging a striking copperhead on the bedroom rug. Somerville killed the snake.

Recover 2 Stolen Cigarette Tax Stamp Machines

CHICAGO (AP) — Two state cigarette tax stamp machines stolen early this month were recovered by police today. Two others, taken in a robbery July 9 still are missing. State officials said the machines were used by the underworld to counterfeit state tax stamps on cigarettes, a practice which they estimated has cost the state millions of dollars in taxes.

Those recovered today were found under the back seat of an automobile parked in front of 5857 West End Ave., on the West Side. Police were seeking the car's owner for questioning.

Police identified the two machines through serial numbers as those taken Oct. 5 from the warehouse of Meyer Silverstein, a wholesale tobacco dealer.

Police said an anonymous phone caller furnished the tip that led to recovery of the machines.

Ehlers, President Of West German Bundestag, Dies

OLDENBURG, Germany, Friday (AP) — Dr. Hermann Ehlers, 50, Christian Democratic president of the West German Bundestag lower house of Parliament died Friday following a long operation.

His death vacated a position of important leadership on the eve of what probably will be the hottest battle yet in the young West German Parliament over ratification of the Paris agreements restoring German arms.

Ehlers, a member of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's party, was a staunch Protestant churchman who led in the campaign for a united Europe and German sovereignty. He was a former chairman of the party and was in his second term as president of the Bundestag.

COLORADO CALVES WIN GRAND CHAMPIONSHIP

CHICAGO (AP) — Twenty Aberdeen Angus steer calves shown by George and Ida Tappes and son of Aurora, Col., won the grand championship of the 10th annual Chicago Feeder Cattle Show and Sale Thursday at the Union Stock Yards.

The same load won the Aberdeen Angus championship. The Moran Cattle Company of Hyattsville, Neb., showed the reserve grand champion load of 20 Hereford steer calves. The load also won the Hereford breed championship.

A carload of 20 steer calves shown by Julius Peterson of Elbert, Col., won the championship for the Shorthorn breed.

The grand reserve and breed champions, which were all steer calves, and the top winners of classes for yearling steers and heifers will be sold at auction beginning Friday.

BROTHER OF IRAN'S SHAH MISSING IN PLANE

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — A plane carrying Prince Ali Reza, 32, the Shah's younger brother, and his private pilot, has been missing more than 24 hours on a flight from near the Soviet border to Tehran.

Husein Ali, royal court spokesman, said Thursday night search parties are combing a 200-mile area between the capital and Gorgan, about 40 miles from the Russian border. Iranian air force planes are conducting an aerial search.

The prince was returning to celebrate the Shah's birthday after a visit to cotton lands he cultivates in the Gorgan area. His twin-engine plane was due here at 3 p.m. Wednesday.

Madness In The Spring

THE STORY: Greg Seaver, 26, says he is much more nervous in the present than in the future. That's why he wants to give up the relative security of working for his stepfather and do something on his own. In response to his advertisement, Greg meets Wade Daggett, a crippled invalid, who confesses he too is tired of sitting in a chair and has an idea how to break the monotony for both of them.

GREG watched Wade Daggett in concern, saying in his mind, "Take it easy, boy. Take it easy."

"My idea was to get in the car and just start out. See what we can find. I'm not sure we can do it, of course. After a certain age you don't see much you aren't ready to see. We can't tell until we try. But there are things going on somewhere."

"What kind of things?" Greg asked with native caution.

"I don't know." For a moment Daggett sounded forlorn, a very neat, plump old man, helpless in his chair, with a big vibrant voice. He ran the fingers of his good hand over the chair arm and then they gripped it hard. "You see, it's not much of a job. You'd have to be a chauffeur, attendant, and listen to the old man talk. I don't need a lot of waiting on, but some I don't know—well, there it is. Eighty a week and expenses. I don't suppose it would appeal to you. Don't hesitate to say so."

Greg looked at it through his stepfather's eyes, an end to his job with Crain's Canned Cornbread and the hope of being vice president and eventually put out to pasture on a pension. A chauffeur. An attendant on a sick old man.

He looked at it through his own eyes, which was more difficult to do. He was so accustomed to seeing what people pointed out to him that he did not know how tricky heart can't afford to rely on paying his bills when they fall due."

Each afternoon, as soon as he left the office, Greg plunged into activities that proved to be unexpectedly fascinating. As a result, the hours that he spent on his job were as much of an anticlimax as the wordless farewells which one waves from a train window after everything has been said. Now the end was in sight he marveled that he had stuck it out so long.

EVEN so, he had to become accustomed to liberty little by little. He wore so many invisible shackles imposed by his dominating stepfather, his mother, his tiresome conscience, his lack of faith in himself, his distrust of any novelty, that he approached the unknown as cautiously as a lame man does an icy sidewalk.

He had toyed with the idea of a last-minute telephone call to his mother or even a letter after he was gone. Instead, he made his confession face to face, which was the hard way. He went to Montclair, brushed and neat, wearing the dinner jacket on which his mother insisted. He was glad there were no guests.

"I've resigned at the office," he blurted out in one long breath to his mother and his stepfather. "But, Greg darling," Millicent Crain protested. At 45 Millicent was something of a miracle. She was more nearly beautiful than she had been at 30 and she did not look much older. Her hair, with a little assistance, was still dark, her wide brown eyes were appealing, her nose small, her mouth full, her shoulders creamy in a strapless crimson velvet dinner dress. Her manner was a shade more girlish than it had been 10 years before.

Behind the voice which was plaintive and youthful, she was saying silently, "How could you do this to me?"

"Why?" Horace Crain asked. "Because I didn't like it."

"Why didn't you discuss it with me first?"

"My mind was made up. There wasn't anything to say, really."

American War Dads, Auxiliary Install Officers

The American War Dads and Auxiliary chapter 28 met Tuesday evening, Oct. 26, at the American Legion home. Both groups conducted their regular business sessions followed with a joint installation.

William Fanning, state War Dads president, installed the War Dads and Mrs. Lucille Newbery, past state president.

The War Dads new officers are: president, Oliver McIlrath; vice president, Roy DePrates; secretary, Roy Newbery; treasurer, Wallace Hembrough; sergeant-at-arms, Edward B. Sturgeon; and chaplain, James Rice.

The officers for the War Dads Auxiliary are: president, Nina Abbott; vice president, Mary Looker; second vice president, Edna Bland; secretary, Jessie McIlrath; historian, Lucille Newbery; treasurer, Gladys Fanning; chaplain, Sarah Scribner; sergeant-at-arms, Bernice Heimlich; and color bearer, Emma Dwyer.

Lloyd Ogle, program chairman, presented two MacMurray College students, Laura Smith and Phyllis Miles, who sang two numbers accompanied at the piano by Miss Smith. Mrs. Newbery then showed colored slides of pictures taken by her son Major John Newbery, while on duty in Korea, Hong Kong and Japan which were very interesting.

Under the new business the president, Mrs. Abbott, appointed the following committee chairman to decorate a float for the Armistice Day parade on Nov. 11: Mrs. Newbery, Edith Ogle and Nina Abbott. Announcement was made of the Gold Star tag day on Nov. 6. Members were asked to purchase cards and continue the monthly parties for the veterans at the hospital under the chairmanship of Mrs. Edna Leigh.

Mrs. Abbott, president, then presented a past president's pin to Mrs. Lucille Newbery and a life membership in the Auxiliary. At the close of the meeting members were served refreshments by the social committee, Bernice Heimlich and Mildred Beiber.

Mrs. Newbery as State President, challenged the Nebraska State President on membership as Illinois has one hundred per cent membership and their record on extension showed the state had two new chapters.

Routt Captures First Place With 46-12--5th League Victory

Coach Jim Smarjesse's Routt Rockets journeyed to Chanderlville last night and defeated the hosts 46-12 for their fifth conference victory of the year to go with one to give the Rockets the PMBC Conference Championship.

Coach Smarjesse used 23 players as he began substituting early in the half and kept using various combinations throughout the contest.

The scoring got under way in the first period when Doolin went 55 yards for a touchdown on the sec-

Lashmet Scores 6 As Winchester Wins 63-21

WINCHESTER—(Special)—Pat Lashmet scored six touchdowns to run his season's total to 21 and 129 points as the Winchester Wildcats defeated visiting Greenfield 63-21 in Valley action last night.

Hubble added two and Redshaw one touchdown to go along with Lashmet's unusual feat. Benton, the Wildcat placekicker, booted seven extra points while Redshaw added one and Benton one.

Stone scored two touchdowns for Greenfield and Pettigo one. Pettigo, Spencer and Williams converted for the losers.

The defensive play of Anders, Smith, Miller and Stile was instrumental in the Wildcat's victory.

Minors' Officials Will File Suit Against Majors

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP)—Embattled minor league club owners will file suit Monday against Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick and the major league owners for invading the minors' territory with game broadcasts and telecasts.

The suit, to be filed in a federal court in Washington, will charge specifically that the major league owners violated "major minor rule No. 1 guaranteeing territorial rights," said Frank D. Lawrence, owner of the Portsmouth Merrimacks in the Class B eight-member Piedmont League.

James McGranery, former attorney general of the United States, will file the suit. He was retained by Lawrence to represent him and other minor league club owners who have indicated they wished to be parties to the suit.

Lawrence said Friday the amount of damages to be asked will be decided after he has heard from all minor league club owners. Previously a figure of 50 million dollars had been mentioned.

Lawrence, who has been an independent club owner for 40 years, said some club owners in the minor leagues "are afraid to stand up and be counted" because of possible reprisals by the majors.

Commissioner Frick will be named a defendant in the suit, Lawrence said, because he failed to make the major league club owners obey the rule calling for protection of the minors' territorial rights.

The Portsmouth club owner, who makes his living as president of a bank, estimated the Piedmont League lost $150,000 during the 1954 season.

Jerome Cventos at 250 pounds is the heaviest player on the Wisconsin football team. He's 6-3 and a sophomore from Ironwood, Mich.

Syndicate That Tried To Purchase A's Dies

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The syndicate that tried to buy the Philadelphia Athletics from the Mack family died legally Friday. The American League owners, who refused to approve the sale, had dealt the coup de grace.

And the finishing blow came amidst published reports that Roy Mack had cast one of the votes against the sale at the league meeting in New York Thursday. Mack denied it.

The certified checks totaling $1,400,000, with which the eight-man syndicate had hoped to purchase the club, were turned over to Investment Broker T. R. Haniff, one of the principals, and his attorney.

And the stock certificates, held also in escrow by a bank official, were returned to Athletics Counsel J. Channing Ellery. All this took place behind closed doors and in quick fashion.

Haniff said, "What is there to do now? We'll take our money and say amen."

Meanwhile, Roy, the son and brother of the two other Athletic owners said:

"Guess we'll have to operate as best we can. We'll have a meeting Monday or Tuesday and talk

ISD Hosts Wisconsin At 2:00; Blueboys Take On Culver At 8

Coach Jim Spink's Illinois School Deaf Tigers play host to Wisconsin Deaf this afternoon at 2:00 on the deaf field. The Tigers have a three game winning streak going in today's battle with an overall mark of 5-1 for the season.

However the local team may have their hands full with the visiting club from up north. Coach Cordaro's club has a 5-0 record for the year having defeated some of the better deaf teams in this section of the country. The Superintendent at the Delavan school is a former ISD teacher and coach, Bill Milligan.

Coach Spink has made a couple of changes in the Tiger lineup due to the illness of Embree. Kleck will move into the end position with Mehning taking over the right half-back spot. The freshman back has picked up 145 yards in 15 tries for the season and will get a starting berth today.

The rest of the starting team will remain the same with Zachariasen at the other end. Thrash and Schultz at tackles, Phelps and Berlich at guards and Kutilek at center. Duncan will direct the team from the "T" with Kane at the other halfback and the Tigers' leading ground gainer Jack Rampley at fullback.

Virginia Beats Bluffs 13-0; 2nd In P.M.B.C.

BLUFFS—(Special)—Coach Paul Morris' Virginia Redskins scored in the first and third periods to defeat host Bluffs 13-0 and take the number two spot in the PMBC Conference.

The victory was the fifth conference win of the year for the Redskins to go along with one loss. It was Bluffs' second loss of the year to go with four wins and a third place finish in the eight man loop.

Smith and Damotte scored for the Redskins. Damotte's touchdown was a 65 yard gallop at the beginning of the second half.

Michigan, Ohio State Top Big Ten Activity

By JERRY LISK
CHICAGO (AP)—Ohio State, the nation's No. 1 team, and Michigan's onrushing Wolverines risk their perfect Big Ten football records Saturday against two conference doormats, Northwestern and Indiana.

Despite its over-all mark of five straight victories, Ohio State's high-stepping club is rated only a 14-point favorite over Northwestern which has lost four in a row after an opening decision over Iowa State Northwestern last won a conference game in 1952.

Similarly, Michigan which took a new lease on life after an Oct. 2 spanking by Army is favored by only two touchdowns over Indiana's four-time losing Hoosiers.

Other conference games Saturday include Wisconsin (2-1) at Iowa (2-2); Michigan State (1-3) at Minnesota (2-1) and Illinois (0-2) at Purdue (1-1).

It would require a complete reversal of form by the fleet and touch Buckeyes to falter Saturday behind a bruising line which last week smothered Wisconsin's great Alan Ameche. Ohio State operates with one of the slickest backfields in the nation.

It's homecoming for Northwestern which lost to Southern California, Minnesota, Michigan and Pittsburgh after beating Iowa State.

Michigan will be in its best physical shape of the season for the invasion by the hard-trying Hoosiers. Wisconsin is favored by one touchdown at Iowa as the Badgers try to bounce back from their 31-14 collapse at Ohio State.

Host Minnesota and Michigan State appear evenly matched in a sharp test of Spartan speed against the Gopher split T attack stopped so effectively by Michigan, 34-0. Last week Purdue, led by passing star Lew Dawson, is favored by 13 points over woebly Illinois.

SPORTS TRAIL

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK (AP)—There will be the usual quota of games won or lost Saturday because the extra point kickers were calm and collected and made good on their attempts, or weren't calm and collected and missed.

There has been considerable argument as to the fairness of a rule whereby a team which is the equal of its opponent in every other department loses because its kicker had a crooked toe and the ball took off with a slice or a hook.

It readily is admitted the extra point often is the means of reaching a decision in a game, and that without it there would be a monotonous run of the games which leave both teams and their followers with that let-down feeling.

Also that the extra point is as much a part of the game as the kickoff or the forward pass or the mouse-trap play, and if one team is more proficient in making the conversions it deserves to win.

The idea of the anti-faction is that the present conversion system places too much stress on the ability of one man to do a particular job, and the success or failure of his team depends on his ability.

Numerous ideas have been advanced aimed at a substitute for the present methods of scoring extra points, but they never got beyond the discussion stage.

If there was to be a change we would favor having extra points of varying values, the values based on the difficulty in scoring.

We believe, Fritz Crisler suggested a system on that order a few years ago, wherein two points would be allowed if the ball was run or passed over the goal, and only one if it was kicked over the crossbar.

That would give the competing teams a chance to gamble and could bring up some interesting situations. For instance, if a team scored and kicked the extra point, the other team must score and have a choice of playing for a tie, and placekicking, or playing to win by taking the chance of running or passing the ball for two points.

Two Golfers Blast Way Over 45-Mile Forest Course

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Two golfers who wanted to get away from the snow were doing it the hard way Friday—blasting over brush and through trees along an impromptu 45-mile course through Angeles National Forest.

Leonard Nash, 26, of Pasadena, and Jim Rogers, 29, of nearby Altadena, tied off Thursday after making a $1 bet over who could get across the San Gabriel Mountains in the fewest strokes.

This morning, nine and one-half miles from their starting point at the foot of Angeles Crest Highway, Rogers had 177 strokes to Nash's 184. DeMarco fell over each other during a jump ball.

Other players from both teams came between the two and Stratton was benched for a cooling-off period by Coach Warren Womble.

The offers are equipped with sleeping bags, beer and food and are accompanied by two friends who act as referees.

They hope to reach Palmdale Saturday night.

Navy, Notre Dame Battle A Sellout

Free throws missed: United States, Minter, Retherford, Johnson, Stratton, 2, Solomon 6. Uruguay, Acosta 5, Mera 4, Costa 2, Moglia 5.

Coach Terry Brennan's first Notre Dame eleven goes into the 28th straight game between the two teams ranked sixth in the Associated Press poll. Its one defeat was to Purdue and it squeaked by Michigan State by one point two weeks ago.

The game is being played in Belmont for the first time since 1951 and the 60,000 capacity of Memorial Stadium has been sold.

The last time Navy beat Notre Dame was in Baltimore before 64,000 in 1944.

Larry Scott Leads Crimson To 13-7 Win Over Westville Eleven

The Jacksonville Crimson hand-ed coach Bob Kraushaar a 13-7 win over visiting Westville for a "27th" birthday present as the Jacks picked up six first downs in the opening quarter and scored twice in the first half. The Jacks kept their ground-air attack moving throughout the first half to defeat Barry Vuk's club and gain their fifth straight win of the campaign before a small gathering on a cold Friday night.

Larry Scott paced the attack for the Crimson as the blond back ran from both left half and fullback. It was a running pass to the left with Scott passing to Larry Knight that gave the Crimson their first TD in the first period. It was Scott again in the second period on a 62 yard touchdown run which was about the best this corner has seen this year in any game. A beautiful block by Woodward on the 20, taking out two men, plus key blocks by Roemer and Rexroat made the TD possible.

The first touchdown march by the Jacks began on their own 22. Dawson, Triar and Dyer picked up two first downs. A nice play in which Fairfield handed off to Dawson after he almost downed carried the ball to the Westville 43. Another first down placed the ball on the 33 from where Scott went over. Woodward kicked the extra point.

The second touchdown was set up when Ed Marquard recovered a Westville fumble on the Jacks 35 yard line. Dyer picked up three yards on the next play before Scott took off on his 62 yard gallop. Woodward's attempted conversion was blocked by Irwin.

The Jacks threatened again before the half ended but the gun went off before the Crimson could cross the goal. This scoring threat was set up by Jack Fairfield who recovered a Westville fumble on the visitor's 32. Lewis passed to Dyer who bulled his way to the seven yard line. Dyer picked up six more yards on the next play carrying to the one. However the gun sounded before the Crimson could get another play in but the Kraushaarmen lead at halftime 13-0.

Westville Scores
Both clubs battled it out on the ground in the third period with neither side able to move deep in the other's territory. The Westville club scored its only TD early in the fourth period after McBride intercepted a Lewis pass on the Jacksonville 40.

Halbacht Joe Krakoski carried 54 yards to the Jacks six yard line before he was hauled down by Lewis and the big back carried over on the next play for the score. Fitzsimmons kicked the extra point.

With seven minutes to go the Crimson put on their final march marked by Scott. They picked up three first downs as they marched down the field but a clipping penalty cost the Jacks a shot at another touchdown.

MARTINEZ WINS
NEW YORK (AP)—Vince Martinez setup Carmine Floren with stinging left jabs and then cut loose with a two-fisted, barrage to score a technical knockout in 2:32 of the seventh round Friday night at Madison Square Garden.

Martinez weighed 148½, Floren 147.

MARQUETTE WINS 14-13
DETROIT (AP)—Marquette's battered line, ripped for 150 points in six games, made a magnificent stand inside its own 10-yard line in the final two minutes Friday night to give the Warriors a 14-13 victory over the University of Detroit.

Many Top Traditional Grid Games Today

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
The Associated Press

June is the month of roses and by the same token the final four weeks of the college football season is the period of traditional games.

After six weeks of warmups of varying degree, the collegians now turn to their "relatives" or long-time enemies. One of the family brews will occupy your TV screen Saturday afternoon with winless Pennsylvania host to Penn State in a rivalry that started a half century ago.

Ohio State, voted the country's best, has a venerable opponent in Northwestern and a sixth straight victory for the Buckeyes would keep them Rose Bowl bound. It is the same with Michigan, another seeking the Big Ten Bowl designation. The Wolverines meet Indiana on their Ann Arbor playgrounds.

The Pacific Coast candidates for the Jan. 1 War of the Roses also will be occupied with conference contests. Southern California needs a victory over the Bruins and also Oregon State's scalp to stay in the running. UCLA, ineligible to return to the Pasadena bowl this year, turns loose its scoring machine against California. In their last two games, both conference affairs, the UCLAs piled up 133 points to none.

The Texas tradition of knocking off the favorite gets a chance for a good workout in the Lone Star state with all-winning Arkansas the guest of Texas A&M. Texas' disciplined squad host to Southern Methodist and Baylor at Texas Christian. Nine players on the Texas Longhorn squad were moved from the athletic dormitory this week for misconduct.

There will be a lot of magnolia-draped tradition on display, too. Alabama, still suffering from the 12-7 setback suffered a week ago by Mississippi State, has a one-beaten Georgia team as its guest. Tulane is at Auburn and Mississippi is at Louisiana State in other Southeastern Conference games.

The Southern Conference offers William & Mary at Virginia Tech and a rugged non-conference struggle in which unbeaten West Virginia tries to increase its national recognition at the expense of a thrice-beaten Pittsburgh team.

Madlyland, owner of a winning tradition until this season, goes against South Carolina with a possible Orange Bowl appearance at stake. Duke, another member of the Atlantic Coast Conference and also an Orange Bowl candidate, is busy with Georgia Tech.

There's tradition in the East as well. Cornell visits battered Columbia. Yale and Dartmouth go at it again in the New Haven Bowl and at Baltimore the Navy follows are hoping that the tradition of Notre Dame victories over the Midshipmen has come to an end.

New York Stock Market

By RADER WINGET

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market fell Friday for the fifth straight time to mark the 25th anniversary of the ill-fated Black Tuesday.

On that day—Oct. 29, 1929—the market went into a sickening spin that wiped out billions of dollars in stock values.

The fall was the worst in a series of panic sessions, and trading reached the all-time high of more than 16 million shares.

Friday's session was a pale and timid thing by comparison. Prices were down 1 to 3 around 3 points in some key areas. Most changes either way were measured in a matter of a few cents.

Business transacted was below average, and the market itself was rather narrow. All week Wall Street has been taking a cautious look at next Tuesday's elections, and adopting a "wait and see" attitude toward the whole thing.

Friday the market started off lower and continued on down with the bottom of the slushy slide reached at the final bell.

All major divisions were lower on balance or mixed, with the exception of higher farm implements.

The steels were mixed with both Bethlehem and Youngstown a little higher on the decision by both companies to fight government opposition to their proposed merger.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell $1.00 at $133.90. Back in 1929 on Black Tuesday the fall was more than 11 times that size and the average closed at $98.50.

Friday's industrial component of the average declined $1.40, the railroads lost 70 cents, and utilities were off 30 cents.

The market wasn't particularly broad with 1,182 individual issues traded of which 249 advanced and 670 declined.

New highs dwindled down to 19 while new lows for the year expanded to 13.

Volume was at the lowest level of the week at 1,900,000 shares. There were 2,190,000 shares traded Thursday.

The American Stock Exchange was mostly lower with volume light at 400,000 shares. There were 570,000 shares traded Thursday.

Lower were Imperial Oil, Pacific Petroleum, St. Lawrence Corp., Woodley Petroleum, Consolidated Mining and Fairchild Camera.

Higher were International Petroleum, New Jersey Zinc and Woodley Petroleum.

Bonds were down. U. S. government issues in the over the counter market were irregular.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

CHICAGO (AP)—An active demand developed for butcher hogs Friday and they sold 25 to 50 cents higher, closing at the full upturn. Sows held steady. Salable receipts totaled 6,000 head.

Most choice 180 to 270 pound butchers sold at $19.25 to $19.50, although there were a few early sales as low as $19.00. A short deck reached $19.60. Sows were taken at $15.50 to $18.00.

Only 600 salable head arrived in the cattle section. Steers and heifers were quoted nominally steady. Good and choice steers and mixed yearlings brought $21.00 to $25.00. One load of high-choice and prime heifers sold for $20.00.

Cows sold steady to strong at $9.00 to $11.50 for utility to low-commercial and $7.00 to $9.00 for canners and cutters. Venders were about steady at $19.00 to $23.00 for good and choice and $9.00 to $18.00 for cull to commercial.

Salable sheep receipts totaled 500. All classes held steady. Buyers paid $18.50 to $20.50 for good to choice woolled lambs, a few high choice to prime reaching $21.00 to $21.50.

20 Hereford Steers Sell At $51 Per Hundred Pounds

CHICAGO (AP)—A carload of 20 Hereford steers which placed eighth in judging Friday brought the top price at the Chicago Feeders Cattle Show and Sale.

Shown by F. W. Yocum of Orchard, Colo., the carload, which averaged 493 pounds a head was sold for $51 a hundred pounds to Harold Alfredson of Big Rock, Ill.

Yocum's carload brought $3 a hundred pounds more than the show's grand champion carload of Aberdeen-Angus and $10 a hundred pounds more than the reserve grand champion load of Herefords.

The grand champion steers, shown by C. E. & Ida Tupps of Aurora, Colo., were sold for $46 a hundred pounds to Leroy Kessling of Muncie, Ind. They averaged 410 pounds.

The reserve grand champion load was shown by the Moran Cattle Co., Hyannis, Neb. Dwight Smoker of Wanahat, Ind., bought the calves for $41 a hundred pounds.

More than 600 carloads of calves and yearling steers were shown in the show, which ends Saturday.

GRAINS FAIL TO FOLLOW BEAN GAINS

By WILLIAM FERRIS

CHICAGO (AP)—Soybeans added a few more cents Friday to the sharp advance they have enjoyed this week, the November contract rising the most under the stimulus of more short covering.

The rest of the market was not able to follow the lead of soybeans. Deferred wheat futures eased on improving prospects for the 1934 wheat crop. Oats were mixed but corn held steady, helped by unfavorable harvesting weather.

Wheat closed 1/4 cent lower to 1/2 higher, corn 1/4 cent higher, oats 1/2 cent lower to 1/4 higher, rye 1 to 1 1/2 lower, soybeans advanced to 3 1/2, higher and lard 2 to 15 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Reports of rain or snow in some sections of Minnesota, along with the next five days, was a factor in the buying in beans. Strength in cash soybean meal, up $2.00 to $2.50 a ton to sell at $67.00 to $67.50, also created buying.

Traders also noted a boat loaded with 338,000 bushels of soybeans left Chicago Thursday and there were rumors of another boat being loaded. It was felt this might reduce Chicago visible supply stocks. After the market closed, the Agriculture Department announced the soybean carryover on Oct. 1 totaled 1,327,000 bushels, unchanged on record.

Unfavorable weather for harvesting gave corn a steady tone, although cash prices were a little lower on receipt of 247 cars. Purchases on a to arrive basis totaled 80,000 bushels.

The Chicago and North Western Railway noted, "The damage done to corn ear shanks by the second brood corn borers is proving very severe. It is scattered pretty much over the corn growing territory. There are quite a few ears on the ground and should we have a windy day others would drop."

Brokers reported a little milk buying in near-by wheat futures, but said it was not as large at Chicago as at Kansas City. Export business was completely dormant, but Japan is expected to be in the market next week for between 3,730,000 and 5,600,000 bushels.

This was the second consecutive month of decline in the general farm price level, pushing it 2 per cent below that of mid-October last year and about 21 per cent below the record high reached in February, 1931.

The level of prices paid by farmers for goods and services used in family living and production declined about one-third of 1 per cent during the month.

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

NEW YORK (AP)—Stocks—Lower; trading quiet. Bonds—Lower; changes narrow. Cotton—Quiet, hedging and liquidation.

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat—Mixed; trade slow. Corn—Steady; unfavorable harvesting weather. Oats—Mixed; small price changes.

Soybeans—Firm; unfavorable harvesting weather. Hogs—Butchers 25 to 50 cents higher; top $19.60. Cattle—Steers, heifers, nominally steady; top $26.00 on heifers.

Friday the Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined $1.00 at $133.90. Twenty-five years ago give of $11.20 and bumped down to $98.50.

That was not the end as many thought at that time. By 1932 the Associated Press average fell to its all-time low of $16.90.

Business Friday amounted to 1,900,000 shares, less than the daily average so far this year. On that high total of 16,410,030 shares, changed hands on the official record. Another seven or eight million shares were traded but the transactions were never recorded in the confusion.

SWING HIGH, SWING LOW—Dancing, singing and changing costumes, Vivacious Debra Paget gave the patrons a treat as she made her first appearance in a Las Vegas night club. The lovely screen star first appeared in a lace and rhinestone dress singing a number, only to appear a few minutes later in a 60-pound gold-chain costume in which she did her controversial Egyptian dance from the movie, "Princess of the Nile."

New York Bond Market

NEW YORK (AP)—Railroads and industrial pulled the bond market downward Friday. "Big Board" volume increased to $3,420,000 par value from $3,380,000 Thursday as corporate liens drifted lower. Convertible obligations followed the stock market lower, but investment quality issues were steady. Some utilities improved, but most carriers and industrials eased.

Long term U. S. government bonds firmed while intermediate and short term issues slipped slightly.

Italian dollar bonds were strong in a quiet foreign section. German bonds were mixed and Japanese bonds were steady.

FARM PRODUCTS PRICES DROP

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department reported Friday that farm product prices dropped about 1 1/2 per cent between mid-September and mid-October.

This decline largely reflected a seasonal drop in prices of hogs and a sharper than usual decrease in prices of citrus fruits.

Other commodities whose prices lost ground during the month included potatoes, corn and cattle. Sharper increases than usual for this time of the year were reported for milk and commercial vegetables.

This was the second consecutive month of decline in the general farm price level, pushing it 2 per cent below that of mid-October last year and about 21 per cent below the record high reached in February, 1931.

The level of prices paid by farmers for goods and services used in family living and production declined about one-third of 1 per cent during the month.

Indict Chicago Firm, Two Men On FHA Fraud Charge

CHICAGO (AP)—A Chicago engineering firm and two men—one identified as the brother of Los Angeles gambler Mickey Cohen—were indicted Friday on a Federal Housing Administration (FHA) fraud charge.

The federal grand jury named the United Research and Engineering Co., also known as Ureco Corp. and Harry M. Cohen and Richard F. Vidaver, both associated with the company.

Overstays Term Because Of Error Of Court Clerk

CINCINNATI (AP)—An inmate at the Ohio Penitentiary in Columbus claimed today he's spent too much time in prison because of a clerical mistake. And prison officials think he may be right.

John D. Ingram, 55, convicted by a Hamilton County jury July 17, 1930, of robbery which netted him $0 cents, wrote his trouble to the court clerk here.

"There appears to be some confusion in technical misunderstanding as to just what kind of sentence I got—definite or indefinite," he wrote.

As he remembers the trial, the judge sentenced him to 15 years. "I became a victim of circumstances because the clerk at the penitentiary made an unfortunate mistake and made it 15 to 25 years."

Court officials said Ingram was

Hysterical Woman Causes Plane Crash, Kills Two

LARKSPUR, Colo. (AP)—A light plane crashed in rough weather when the injured pilot reported Friday, a woman passenger became hysterical and caused him to lose control by grabbing him around the neck.

The woman, Mrs. Allie Dixon, and Juanita Johnson, both of Oklahoma City, were killed. Both were about 35.

Pilot John P. Lippitt, 36, of Denver, told the following story from his hospital bed in that city:

The woman had chartered his plane to fly from Oklahoma City to Denver for Saturday's Oklahoma-Colorado football game. The craft ran into snow squalls near Colorado Springs late Thursday night.

The pilot was circling a beacon looking for a landing field when Mrs. Dixon clutched his neck, pulling his head back. He lost control and the plane went into a spin.

Lippitt said he managed to break Mrs. Dixon's hold just before the crash and succeeded in leveling the machine. Nevertheless, it plowed into the ground, skidded across a clearing, and smashed into a clump of trees.

Mrs. Dixon, thrown clear, apparently died instantly. The pilot said the other passenger was still alive early this morning when he set out to find help. He said he built a fire for Miss Johnson and wrapped blankets around her during the freezing night.

Two paratroopers from Denver's Lowry Air Force Base dropped to the crash scene while Lippitt was gone and found both women dead. Lippitt, meanwhile, had reached a nearby ranch house and telephoned authorities, who had been alerted earlier that the plane was overdue.

Hospital spokesmen said Lippitt suffered a broken collarbone, a possible leg or ankle fracture, and possible chest and neck injuries.

CLARE BOOTH LUCE GIVES U.S. SYMPATHY TO SALERNO ILL. HURT

SALERNO, Italy (AP)—U.S. Ambassador Clare Booth Luce waded Friday along the trail of tragedy left by the Salerno flood and told survivors Americans would not forget them.

She climbed up muddy trails to see ruins of homes and churches, and visited a hospital to comfort the sick and wounded.

"I am here to express in the name of the American people our profound sympathy," she said. "I also come here to offer you whatever assistance, whatever emergency aid, your government may request."

While she visited the packed hospital, ambulances arrived with newly found victims.

The final death toll of the floods and landslides that rumbled down the hills around Salerno last Tuesday may not be known for days. Salerno authorities have announced there are 226 verified dead, but scores are missing and presumed dead. Some newspaper estimates have placed the toll at more than 500.

Jack Geils, manager of the Municipal Airport and Secretary-Treasurer of Byerly Airlines, said that these substantial reductions in flight rates are being made in an effort to produce more traffic for the new scheduled service. "We are not at all discouraged with the public acceptance of our flight service between Chicago and Jacksonville. In fact, it has proven better than we first experienced at Peoria. But we believe that with lower fares more people will use the service, finding it not only cheaper and more comfortable than other forms of transportation, but also economical," Geils said.

The new fares, commencing Monday, will be:

One way to Peoria$ 6.05
One way to Chicago$14.90
Round trip Peoria$11.50
Round trip Chicago$28.31

Byerly Airlines flights leave Jacksonville Municipal Airport each morning at 6:45 a.m. arriving at Chicago's Midway Airport at 8:30 a.m. There are two return flights to Jacksonville, one leaving Chicago at 9 a.m. and one leaving at 6:45 p.m. The evening flight from Chicago was added to Byerly's original schedule to enable Jacksonville residents to fly to Chicago in the morning, have a full business or shopping day there, and return to this city by 8:30 p.m.

Airport manager Geils also announced that an agreement had been reached with Max M. Wolke to operate a complete major and minor aircraft repair shop at the Municipal field. Wolke has a federal license issued by the CAA as a Designated Aircraft Maintenance Inspector and has had extensive practical experience in this field.

Queen Mother Does Christmas Shopping Early

NEW YORK (AP)—Queen Mother Elizabeth of Britain did a bit of Christmas shopping on a surprise tour of New York department stores Friday and here's a confidential word from Santa Claus:

Queen Elizabeth (size 12) is going to get a brightly colored silk blouse with a cornflower blue skirt.

Princess Margaret (size 10) will get a similar blouse with a red skirt.

Princess Anne will have a bake set with a toy electric stove.

For Prince Charles there will be a $5 steam shovel with a windup handle that raises the shovel.

The Queen Mother said as she twice tried out the steam shovel that she expected the toys to teach her grandchildren something about "the American way of life."

As for the Duke of Edinburgh he's going to get a tie... a ribbon knit pink and white number.

Salesman Denies Forging Attorney General's Name

DECATUR, Ill. (AP)—Walter A. Cinnin, salesman for a hoodlum-controlled gambling equipment firm, Thursday denied he forged an attorney general's opinion and was jailed in lieu of $10,000 bond.

Cinnin, 37, pleaded innocent to a charge that he forged Atty. Gen. Latham Castle's signature to an opinion which said a slot machine device was within the law. He entered the plea at arraignment before Justice of the Peace Wayne B. Ellis.

Ellis set Nov. 8 for Cinnin's preliminary hearing.

Cinnin, arrested in Chicago Thursday, is accused of drawing up the spurious opinion declaring a device known as a "trade booster" is legal. The device is distributed by Taylor & Co., Cinnin's employer.

Atty. Gen. Castle has ruled the device illegal.

Police say two of the five parties in the gambling equipment company formerly had or still have hoodlum connections. They are Claude Maddox and Joseph Aiuppa.

SMUGGLERS ARRESTED

RABAT, French Morocco, (AP)—Police said today they have arrested several members of a band of smugglers supplying arms and ammunition to Moroccan terrorists. Officers said the gang operated between Spanish and French Morocco and was responsible for at least five deaths.

Baptists To Dedicate New Building Sunday

Dr. Russell S. Orr, executive secretary of the Illinois Baptist State Convention for the past eleven years, will be the principal speaker at the service of dedication at the new educational building of the First Baptist Church Sunday at 2:30 p.m. Not only are all members of the congregation and Church School invited but the community will also be most welcome to share in the ceremony.

This impressive service will be held in the Fellowship Hall of the new educational building. The children and young people of the Church School as well as the entire assembly will share in the act of dedication. Miss Mahala McGehee will serve as pianist, and the pastor, Rev. Clair E. Malcomson, will preside.

The chairman of the building committee, M. R. Range, will recognize publicly the other members of the building committee, M. C. Reynolds, L. B. Turner, William Townsend, Tom Cornish, Carroll D. Rexroat, R. L. Dumas, and George F. Stoldt. Also the members of the special building fund finance committee, W. R. Shaw, A. J. Stewart, Tom Cornish, C. R. Dowland, and Justin Brown; the Fund Raising Firm, which was employed in the fall of 1951, H. P. Demand & Associates, the Architects, P. John Hoener, Alan J. Hoener, and Orval Burke, all of whom will be present for this occasion, with the contractor, Hugh Gibson.

Mrs. Richard Earhart is publicity chairman for the dedication service. Mrs. L. P. Hauck and Miss Elizabeth Long are in charge of invitations.

The Church Moderator, L. B. Turner, will recognize the President of the Ministerial Association, Dr. Harris Pankhurst, as well as the Director of Christian Education for the Illinois Baptist State Convention, Rev. James Havens, and others. The formal presentation of the building will be handled by the architect, contractor, Chairman of the Building Committee, and the Chairman of the board of Trustees, Dr. Perry A. Roberts, Supt. of the Church School, will lead the children and young people in their portion of the dedication.

Beautiful program folders will be distributed to all attending the dedicatory services. In addition to the program, it contains a brief history of the Sunday School Building Fund. The 2:30 dedicatory service will be broadcast by courtesy of the local Radio Station, W.L.D.S.

Physical Therapy Now Available At Passavant Hospital

Passavant Memorial Area Hospital announces the opening of its Physical Therapy Department, beginning Monday, November 1. The services of this department will be available to both in-patients and out-patients, for therapy as prescribed by their personal physicians.

Treatments will be administered by Miss Joyce Siroky, registered physical therapist, who will be on duty at the hospital during the afternoon hours. Miss Siroky is also the therapist at the Physical Therapy Department for Crippled Children, which is operated under the auspices of the Easter Seal Society at the Lincoln School.

Ralph Bersell, hospital administrator, stated: "We are extremely pleased to be able to make this facility available to the community. We believe that it will fill a definite need in the Passavant area, as patients needing this type of therapy have up-to-now had to travel to Alton, Quincy, Peoria or Springfield for treatment." Mr. Bersell also expressed appreciation for the cooperation of the Easter Seal Society in sharing the services of Miss Siroky.

The new Department at the hospital will offer various types of physical therapy, such as whirlpool hydrotherapy, massage, exercise, infra-red and ultra-violet ray treatments, diathermy, and gait training.

Antique Dealer, Johnson Jex Of Pittsfield Dies

PITTSFIELD—Johnson Jex, 61 year old antique dealer at Pittsfield, died at 3:30 Friday morning at the Illini hospital. Mr. Jex had been a resident of Pittsfield since 1902.

He was born in St. Louis July 10, 1893, the son of Alfred J. and Mary Bates Jex, who came to Pittsfield at the turn of the century. Mr. Jex was associated with his father in the carriage and furniture business before joining the Navy in World War One. He was married Sept. 20, 1920 to Gertrude Sneed who died in 1942. The deceased was a member of the Congregational church and the American Legion post.

He is survived by one brother, Bates Jex of Springfield, and one sister, Mrs. Allene Brunswick of Pittsfield.

The body was taken to the Plattner funeral home. Arrangements are incomplete.

Dr. James A. Day 85 Years Old Friday

Dr. James A. Day, formerly of Jacksonville and Winchester, celebrated his eighty-fifth birthday anniversary Friday at his home, 1420 Lowell avenue, in Springfield. He is the oldest physician in Sangamon county.

Dr. Day at the age of 20 was graduated from St. Louis College of Physicians and surgeons. He returned to his home in Winchester that day and the same night rode horseback five miles into the country where he delivered his first baby.

Following 10 years of general practice with his father in Winchester, he decided to specialize in surgery. After two years spent studying in the surgical centers of Europe—Berlin, Dresden, Vienna, Paris, Berne and London he located in Jacksonville.

For many years Dr. Day was chief surgeon of Our Saviour's hospital in Jacksonville. He was also on the staff of Passavant hospital, and later conducted his own private surgical hospital.

In 1917 Dr. Day moved to Springfield where he had an extensive surgical practice prior to his retirement in 1940 after 50 years of practice.

Dr. Day is a member of the Sangamon County Medical society, and the Fifty Year club of the Illinois State Medical society and is a fellow of the American Medical association. He is the author of numerous papers and lectures and has been a frequent contributor to medical publications. Reading is his favorite hobby.

Dr. Day is one of a family of doctors. Both his father, Dr. William C. Day, of Winchester, and his maternal grandfather, Dr. R. J. Allmond, of Palmyra, practiced their profession for more than 50 years. His brother, Dr. L. R. Day, and a number of other close relatives also practiced for many years.

After receiving his early education in the Winchester public schools, Dr. Day attended Grinnell college and Christian Brothers college in St. Louis, Mo. He received his pre-medical training at the University of Missouri.

Dr. and Mrs. Day are the parents of two sons, William F. Day and J. Edward Day. The latter was state director of insurance under Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson.

Douglas Is A.D.A. 'Pin-Up Boy' Meek

CHICAGO (AP)—Joseph T. Meek Friday said Sen. Paul H. Douglas would "rather be re-elected than right."

Meek, Republican seeking to unseat Democratic Douglas at next Tuesday's election, called Douglas the "pin-up boy" of Americans for Democratic Action, a group with aims similar to those of the New Deal.

Meek asserted: "My opponent, long in the forefront of A.D.A. activities, would rather be re-elected than right."

Meek also told Chicago campaign audiences:

"The decisive vote will be cast by the hundreds of thousands of Illinois patriots who want the Eisenhower program to continue the next two years and not be mired down in partisan wrangling by an unfriendly Congress.

"They are the voters who want the uneasy peace we have won to become more firm. They want 1955 and 1956 to continue prosperous under the same Republican guidance that brought our greatest peacetime prosperity in history in 1953 and 1954."

Rep. Green Urges Everyone To Vote For Blue Ballot

"The Blue Ballot Reapportionment Amendment deserves the support of every voter, downstate and in Cook county," Representative Hugh Green, veteran legislator from this district told the members of the Jacksonville Kiwanis club Thursday.

The Blue Ballot Amendments have been endorsed by both political parties and by many non-partisan groups such as the Farm Bureau, the A. P. of L., the State Chamber of Commerce, the League of Women Voters and many other organizations interested in better state government, Rep. Green said.

If our present constitutional provisions regarding redistricting on the basis of population were carried out, Chicago and Cook county would control both houses of the General Assembly, the speaker pointed out. Under the proposed amendment downstate would be assured of permanent control in the Senate where representation would be based upon area consideration similar to the system embodied in the federal constitution.

"The Reapportionment Amendment is a fair and workable compromise. It will give an equal voice in our state government to all people regardless of where they live. It will end the situation now prevailing within Cook county itself, where the slum districts around Chicago's loop have 20 times the representation of suburban areas," Rep. Green declared.

Demo Head Links Ike With Campaign Of 'Smear, Fear'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell Friday linked President Eisenhower directly with a campaign of "smear and fear" and said the President had "threatened the people to vote for his candidates—or else."

"Under the Constitution, the people have the right to elect a Congress of their own choosing, not one of the President's choosing," Mitchell said.

"The President proposes we abandon our constitutional system of checks and balances for a plank check Congress."

"Mr. Eisenhower now says in effect, 'give me one-party government—I am the man who should choose your representatives in the House and the Senate'."

"Fortunately for our system, the American voter is a very independent fellow, who doesn't bow to dictation by the President or anybody else."

"It is unworthy of the President to try to scare the American people in this fashion into voting for Republicans they do not want," Mitchell read his statement at a news conference.

BURSTIS BOTHERS IKE

DETROIT (AP)—President Eisenhower still was bothered some Friday by a touch of burstis "or strain of some kind" in his right shoulder.

The President kept his right arm close to his side while making a speech in Washington Thursday night.

On the way into downtown Detroit from an airport for a campaign speech Friday the President waved to the crowds with his left hand for the most part.
